IKE PLANS REPORT TO NATION ON MID-EAST

Little Steel Town Ponders 'Soft' Business

West Virginia Folk Wonder about Battle To Keep Metals Mill

FOLLANSBEE, W. Va. (AP)—This city of 4,800, only two years ago the scene of a dramatic fight by residents and others to save the Follansbee steel mill from being sold for junk, again is in the news, this time as an example of the "softening" in steel business.

Reports have varied from hopelessness to optimism. A few persons have expressed doubt that the fight to save the mill, which resulted in its purchase and operation by Louis Berkman and Cyrus W. Eaton, was worth the effort. Others think a bird in hand, in this instance a going factory, is worth more than a factory site.

How do the folks in Follansbee feel? Well, there's Delmar Jenkins, city manager for many years. He says gross sales tax reports show business is better than it was a year ago.

Herman Rogerson, young city solicitor, says "We had the best year in our history in 1956, even with the slowing in steel here which started in October. The mill still is operating and is in better shape than two years ago."

Merle Gaudio, member of City Council and chairman of the mill grievance committee, is not so cheerful.

"THINGS DON'T look so good, and we wonder if they intend to keep the mill," he says. But he noted he worked four days last week and is scheduled for four more this week.

Frank Basil, former mayor, now tax assessor, and his wife who handles income tax returns for many Follansbee residents are among the optimists. "If we're hurting, it doesn't show in the income tax reports," Mrs. Basil says.

Dewey Olson, plant manager of the Follansbee mill, points to unfinished steel coils, ready for processing, piled all over the plant.

There is about $5 million worth at current steel prices and more being shipped in. He showed machinery in good condition, buildings in excellent shape.

Berkman cites payrolls for 1955 totalling $3,818,000 and for 1956 adding to $4,266,000.

"Since the mill was being sold for junk, this $8 million payroll in two years certainly couldn't have hurt the community," he observes.

Employes in the mill and the specialty plant adjoining it number nearly 800. Early in February approximately 150 men were laid off with no definite date for coming back.

But company records show that less than 50 per cent of the total working force lives in Follansbee.

THE OTHERS live in Steubenville, Ohio Wellsburg, W. Va., and surrounding communities. This probably is one reason why Follansbee does not show much effect from the slow period at the mill. Many Follansbee residents work in other plants in Weirton, W. Va., Steubenville and elsewhere.

Mrs. Basil cites another factor in the local situation: "We're steel people here, and steel people expect to have good and slow periods. We just save for the slow times as part of our living expenses."

Ability to Live With Others Cited

NEW YORK (AP)—Man's ability to live in peace and understanding with his fellow men is the greatest and most urgent challenge to humanity, Louis B. Seltzer, national chairman of Brotherhood Week, said Tuesday.

Addressing a regional luncheon of the National Conference of Christians and Jews here, the Cleveland Press editor said man's inventive genius outpaced his ability to learn how to live with himself and his neighbors in a shrinking world.

Medals Make Coins

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's Finance Ministry decided today to make money out of 1,140,000 unused silver medals left over from World War II. They will be minted into 15 tons of 100-yen coins, worth 27.8 cents each.

Jeff Cagers Beat Good Hope; Will Meet Bulldogs in Final

Tournament fever reached record temperatures in the Washington C. H. gym Tuesday evening as the Jeffersonville varsity, the Madison Mills reserves, and the Bloomingburg junior high five walked off with victories in the crucial semi-final round of the county basketball tournament.

The Tiger varsity trampled Good Hope, 73-51, to win the right to meet Bloomingburg Bulldogs Thursday night in the deciding final game of the regulation varsity tourney. Madison Mills' reserves beat Jeffersonville's, 45-38, while the Bulldog juniors topped the Tiger juniors, 42-12.

The law of averages bave Bloomingburg the best chance to come up with some honors in Thursday's games—as a result of the junior high win Tuesday night, the Bulldogs will have teams in all three final-round tournament games.

But the cold facts still had to be faced—when the teams get out there on the floor Thursday, the law of averages will have to take a back seat to some hard-fought, thrillpacked basketball, and anything could happen.

IN TUESDAY night's varsity game, the Tigers got a bad scare from the Mad Anthonys before they came through for the crucial victory. The fast-starting Good Hope team held the Jeff five through most of first half.

School Citizens Committee To Hold First Meeting Friday

The Fayette County Citizens Committee that is to study the school problems of entire county, including Washington C. H., will hold its first meeting at 8 p. m. Friday in the office of the Fayette County Board of Education in the courthouse.

The nine committee members, appointed last Saturday afternoon at a meeting of the three representatives of the three school districts in the county, were notified by letter Tuesday of the time and place of the meeting.

The letter of notification sent out by Supt. W. J. Hilty of the county schools, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the convention last Saturday, said:

"This is to notify you of appointment to the Fayette County Citizens' Committee on Friday February 22, 1957 by the delegates of the participating boards of education.

"I was instructed by the Commission of delegates to set a time and place for the organization meeting of the Committee. The designated place is the County Board of Education office at 8:00 o'clock p. m. Friday February 22, 1957."

THE THREE representatives on the committee from the Fayette County district are Joe D. Campbell, Charles A. Burke an dMaynard Hoppes. They were appointed last Saturday by H. B. Lightle, the county school board's delegate to the convention.

Representatives of the Miami Trace district are Floyd M. Hoppes, Carl H. Janes and Ancel Creamer, appointed by J. Herbert Perrill, the Miami Trace board's representative to the convention.

The Washington C. H. district's representatives are Walter Rettig, Ray Brandenburg and Ed Cunningham. They were appointed by Elmer Reed, the city board's delegate to the convention.

While the appointments were made formally by the convention delegates, the delegates were following the instructions of their own boards.

Under the law, the Citizens Committee is made up of three representatives of the three school districts.

Friday and Saturday Are Dollar Days Here

Friday and Saturday will be Double Dollar Days at 36 Washington C. H. places of business.

And the slogan for these two days is "Your Dollar Never Bought So Much for So Little" as it has been for previous Dollar Days.

The places of business participating in this sales event provide a wide variety of every day needs for the people of this community, year in and year out. They include clothing, food, household appliances and furniture, many kinds of services, equipment for the sportsman and musical instruments.

These places of business all have selected something on which a "Guaranteed Value" tag will be hung Friday and Saturday. And behind every tag there is a special buy with a special saving for the buyer.

Not all of these "Guaranteed Values" have $1 price tags on them for these Double Dollar Days. But they all were selected for guaranteed money-saving values.

Many merchants have put the especially low prices on what they call "door openers." But they have gone further; they have reduced prices on merchandise and services all along the line.

Many of the merchants bought stocks especially for this event. They have been planning for it for months. They have made it plain that the Dollar Days are not to be confused with clearance sales to reduce a surplus or cut-down of out-of-season stocks.

Stories of Dollar Day bargains are told more graphically and in greater detail by the merchants themselves in their advertisements in today's Record-Herald.

On a two-page spread, the 36 merchants and dealers in services have advertised their "door openers" and in other advertisements for the next two days they will tell of additional money-saving opportunities.

Just read these and see how "Your Dollar Never Bought So Much" before.

Bomb Tossed at His Concert Fails To Bother 'Satchmo'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A dynamite explosion outside scarcely caused Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong and his Negro-white band to miss a beat Tuesday night in a jazz concert before a segregated audience here.

"That's all right, folks," the gravel-throated Negro trumpeter quipped, as the sound of the blast echoed through the administration building at the city's Chilhowee Park. "It's just the phone."

Nobody got excited, only a few persons got up to see what happened, and the show went on. There were no injuries and scarcely any damage.

The blast, which police said apparently was caused by no more than a single stick of dynamite tossed from a passing car, ripped a four-foot hole in mud about 200 yards east of the building.

About 2,000 whites and 1,000 Negroes were in the building. Armstrong and his combo had returned from an intermission. They were striking up 'Back o' Town Blues."

THERE WERE three Negroes and two white musicians in the band, in addition to a Negro songstress and Armstrong.

He said the incident here, which he obviously wasn't taking very seriously, would not affect his current tour. The group will play tonight in Columbia, S. C., as scheduled, he said.

"Man, the horn don't know anything about it," he said. "I'll play anywhere they'll listen."

Police said the explosive apparently was tossed over a 10-foot wire fence from a car which passed the building without lights. They said they had no clues as to who threw it.

Segregation groups previously have protested white and Negro audiences, even on a segregated basis, at Chilhowee Park for concerts such as Armstrong's.

But there had been no public protest against Tuesday night's program, billed well in advance.

The explosion was this area's second in a week with racial overtones.

Last Thursday night, several sticks of dynamite exploded in the heart of nearby Clinton's Negro section, slightly injuring a Negro woman and baby and damaging Negro-owned property.

Vandals Smash Phone Firm's Switchboards

35 Men Wreck Ohio Consolidated Gear In Jefferson County

STEUBENVILLE (AP) — About 35 men broke into the Dillonvale exchange of the struck Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., Tuesday night and smashed windows, doors, switchboards and fixtures.

The exchange was knocked out of operation, and persons who tried to place calls to Dillonvale today were informed by Steubenville operators that the exchange is "out of service for the day."

The new violence came as negotiators for the company and the Communications Workers Union were reported nearing agreement in Columbus on a contract to end the seven-month old strike.

The union repeatedly has denied any knowledge of the cable cuttings and other vandalism which has marked the long strike.

Nobody was hurt in the Dillonvale affair. Eugene Hobart, Howard Dean and Richard Fleaner, "supervisory employes" who were on duty when the mob entered, fled the small building.

JEFFERSON County sheriff's deputies said they were unable to identify any of the vandals.

By the time officers arrived, the exchange was deserted.

In Columbus, another negotiation session was set for 2 p. m. Thursday in the Seneca Hotel.

E. L. Phillips, the federal mediator who has worked with the opposing groups for weeks in an effort to end the strike, was optimistic Tuesday night. He said:

"We don't want to raise any hopes, but we can't say one way or another whether a settlement may come tonight."

He commented then: "We're better off than we were." But he quickly added: "We're not there yet."

"There" would be settlement of the differences separating the company and union. These include retention of a union shop clause in the contract and 15 other issues.

Chamber Sees No Shortage Of Classrooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce said today there is no critical national shortage of classrooms, and that it regards federal aid for school construction "unnecessary."

The chamber position was presented to a House education subcommittee by Thomas A. Ballantine of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on education.

He said in prepared testimony: "It is the consensus of business in this country that the states and their communities are responsible for, and able to, finance the development of the school systems required by their citizens."

Federal help he said, "would lead inevitably to the transformation of public education from a state and local function to one increasingly directed by the federal government."

Ballantine said a report by the U. S. Office of Education states 53,000 new classrooms were built in the year ending last fall. About 49,000 of these would have taken care of the report's estimated enrollment increase of a million and its estimated figure of 14,000 for abandoned classrooms.

Circleville Skull Is Bullet-Pierced

CIRCLEVILLE (AP) — A bullet-pierced skull found along the Scioto River bank near here Feb. 7 was that of a man at least 45 years old who has probably been dead at least five years.

Dr. Raymond Baby, curator of archaeology at Ohio State Museum, said his examination showed the man apparently was shot from behind at the base of the skull, possibly with a .22 caliber weapon.

The bullet, he said, ranged upward and came out just above the right eye. But neither Baby nor Pickaway County authorities could say whether the man was murdered or took his own life.

Quake Kills 13

TUNIS (AP)—A sharp earthquake today killed 13 persons and injured about 35 others near the town of Souk el Khemis, about 100 miles west of Tunis.

HERE IS WHERE United Nations forces are stationed in the Sinai peninsula, awaiting instructions. The Israelis hold the west shore of the Gulf of Aqaba to about 50 miles inland, and the Gaza strip. Those are the two crisis areas. As things stand now, Israel won't get out till assurance is given that Egypt won't be able to use the areas militarily or to block Israel's port of Elath at head of the gulf, and Egypt won't agree to anything till Israel gets out.

U. N. Aide To Relay Suez Plan to Egypt from West

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was expected to relay to Egypt today a four-nation plan for interim operation of the Suez Canal that would give Egypt at least half the tolls.

Authoritative sources said representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Norway presented the plan Tuesday night in a 30-minute meeting with Hammarskjold. It reportedly hinged on these two main points:

1. Dividing the canal tolls with Egypt on a 50-50 basis once the waterway is opened to shipping. Tolls would be paid to the World Bank or to the U.N. itself. Half the money then would be credited to Egypt and the other half held pending a final canal settlement.

2. Use of the 103-mile canal by ships of all nations, including Israel.

The British Foreign Office said the world's major shipping nations had agreed to share the Suez tolls with Egypt but London observers predicted the Egyptians would demand 100 per cent payment.

FROM THE TIME Egypt nationalized the canal July 26 until it was blocked during the October-November invasion, many shippers paid their tolls to the old Suez Canal Co. in London and Paris. The fees were being held pending settlement of the company's claims against Egypt for the nationalization.

The U. N. announced Deputy Undersecretary Alfred G. Katzin would fly to Egypt today for talks with U. N. officials on canal clearance operatons. There have been reports Egypt is holding up the clearance until Israel withdraws its troops from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba.

Target date for opening the waterway to vessels of up to 10,000 tons — about 75 per cent of the normal traffic — is March 10. But recent reports have indicated that goal would not be met.

$1,000 Bequeathed To Hospital and To Grace Church

Memorial Hospital and Grace Methodist Church each will get $1,000 from the state of Mrs. Jennie P. Shoop when final settlement is made sometime within the next few months.

Under terms of Mrs. Shoop's will, the bequest to the hospital is for care and medical aid of indigent residents of Fayette County. It is to be used at the discretion of the hospital trustees.

The $1,000 left to Grace Church may be spent by the trustees in the manner they determine."

Mrs. Shoop, a native of Fayette County, spent much of her life in Chicago where her husband, the late John N. Shoop was superintendent of schools for many years. After his death, Mrs. Shoop returned to Washington C. H. where she lived until her death last Oct. 6.

The bulk of her estate was left to her only son, Arnold Shoop, of Greenwich, Conn., who also was named the administrator.

The will was admitted to probate in Probate Court here Oct. 9, but six months is allowed for final settlement.

After 136 Years Church Gets Pastor

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Presbytery of Cincinnati has filled a pulpit that has been vacant for 136 years.

It's the historic Somerset Presbyterian Church in Warren County organized in 1821, whose new pastor is the Rev. Wendell Taylor, now of Minneapolis. The Somerset church has been served by pastors of neighboring churches since it was organized.

Chicago Group Protests Ban By TV Outlet

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Chicago group today protested to the Federal Communications Commission the action of a Chicago television station in cancelling the film "Martin Luther."

The petition was filed by the Action Committee for Freedom of Religious Expressions, composed of representatives of various Protestant organizations.

The group claimed to have protesting petitions bearing signatures of about 150,000 Chicagoans, and that additional signatures are coming in at the rate of about 50,000 weekly.

The petition to the FCC describes as "arbitrary" the action of WGN-TV in canceling a showing of the film last December. The petition said the station announced the cancellation as a result of an "emotional reaction."

The petitioners ask that the station's license be revoked. WGN-TV is owned by the Chicago Tribune.

The petition says "condemnation of the film can be identified in almost every case with the Roman Catholic Church."

Martin Luther was a leader in the Protestant reformation in the 16th Century. The film about his life has been shown throughout the world, but the Chicago telecast would have been a TV premiere.

At the time WGN-TV announced cancellation of the showing of the film, Ward L. Quaal, the station's vice president and general manager, said that shortly after announcement of the scheduled showing "it became apparent that there was an emotional reaction to the plan."

Talk Tonight Scheduled To Detail Status

All Radio, TV Stations Asked To Grant Time For Chief's Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will go on the air tonight to report to the American people on the Middle East situation and Israel's refusal to withdraw troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

The White House said the hour would be decided later. It asked for time on all TV and radio networks.

Before the White House announcement, Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) reported that "the general purport" of Eisenhower's discussions this morning with congressional leaders was that the GOP administration will support sanctions against Israel if they are voted by the United Nations.

However, Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, reported no decision about possible support of sanctions had been "finalized."

Knowland said it was suggested in the meeting that an attempt be made to get the United Nations to give renewed assurances to Israel that U. N. troops will be stationed in the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba when Israeli troops are withdrawn from those areas.

Knowland reportedly has threatened to resign as a member of the U. S. delegation to the U. N. if the administration supports sanctions in an effort to force Israel to pull out its troops.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), asked whether any agreements were reached, told newsmen: "There were agreements and disagreements."

REP. MARTIN of Massachusetts, Republican House leader and other participants said the whole field of sanctions—all kinds, was discussed.

The Congress members meeting with the President had virtually all taken stands earlier against sanctions.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate, paused on the White House threshold to restate his opposition to sanctions against Israel unless they are applied also to Egypt and Russia. He said that the Democratic Policy Committee supported this position unanimously Tuesday.

As he had told Secretary of state Dulles, Johnson said, "We shouldn't have one policy for the strong nations and one for the weak nations. My view is that

2 Whites Indicted In Negro Bombing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Two white men were free under bond today on charges of dynamiting the home of a Negro integration leader.

James D. York and Henry Alexander surrendered to Sheriff M. S. Butler Tuesday after the grand jury had indicted them for the Jan. 10 dynamiting of the home of the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy.

Police Chief G. J. Ruppenthal said Feb. 10 that the dynamiting of Abernathy's home and at least three other blasts of the seven in Montgomery "were perpetrated by members of the Montgomery branch of the Ku Klux Klan."

2 Circus Lions In Attendance at Wedding Service

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two lions were among guests at the wedding Tuesday night of George J. Keller, college art instructor turned lion-tamer.

To be exact, the lions, Leo and Nosey, were in a cage at the Al Sirat Grotto Shrine Circus with the wedding party. Some 6,000 spectators watched from outside as the Rev. Walter Klein married Keller and blonde Ginny Lowry.

Cautioned by ushers "not to make any sudden moves," the wedding party was noticeably uneasy. Only the bridegroom who owns and trained the lions, appeared at ease.

Keller, a former instructor at Pennsylvania State Teachers College, and his bride will travel with the circus.

Annual Report Made by Administrators

Memorial Hospital Service Increasing

A total of 4,039 patients received care in Memorial Hospital here last year, the annual report of the administrator, Miss Christene Evans, revealed.

This was an increase of 223 over the number cared for in 1955 and of 521 over 1954.

In addition to the 4,039 patients cared for and treated from a wide variety of ailments, the same staff cared for 4,514 "out patients"—that is patients who were not actually hospitalized for an extended period, but went there for some special service.

This was an increase of 25 over the number of "out patients" in 1955 and 1,179 more than in 1954.

THE GROSS operating income for the year was $463,090 and the operating expenses amounted to $437,914. That left $25,176 to cover bills, depreciation of the hospital and its facilities and certain improvements.

(This is one of the relatively few hospitals that operates within its income. Many have special tax levies, others get support from fund - raising campaigns and community chests. Memorial Hospital here does not maintain a big surplus; rather it operates within its income almost from week to week.)

The administrator's report to the board of trustees shows that contributions have played an important part in operation of the hospital. Frequently, in the report, there are references to payments made from the "special account"; that is payments made from the fund made up of donations.

THE REPORT, which says "our most important accomplishment" is the daily care of patients, follows:

"Some of you (trustees) have heard me (Miss Evans) say before that the medical staff is the hub of any hospital organization. We have 14 active staff members, 12 courtesy staff members and 13 consulting staff members. Each of these physicians makes every effort as individuals, as well as collectively, to advance himself clinically, through staff organization and other educational media. In addition to assuming responsibility for their own patients, they are devoted to the improvement of technological and scientific advances in patient care, as well as evaluat-

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A dynamite explosion outside scarcely caused Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong and his Negro-white band to miss a beat Tuesday night in a jazz concert before a segregated audience here.

"That's all right, folks," the gravel-throated Negro trumpeter quipped, as the sound of the blast echoed through the administration building at the city's Chilhowee Park. "It's just the phone."

Nobody got excited, only a few persons got up to see what happened, and the show went on. There were no injuries and scarcely any damage.

The blast, which police said apparently was caused by no more than a single stick of dynamite tossed from a passing car, ripped a four-foot hole in mud about 200 yards east of the building.

About 2,000 whites and 1,000 Negroes were in the building. Armstrong and his combo had returned from an intermission. They were striking up "Back o' Town Blues."

THERE WERE three Negroes and two white musicians in the band, in addition to a Negro songstress and Armstrong.

He said the incident here, which he obviously wasn't taking very seriously, would not affect his current tour. The group will play tonight in Columbia, S. C., as scheduled, he said.

"Man, the horn don't know anything about it," he said. "I'll play anywhere they'll listen."

Police said the explosive apparently was tossed over a 10-foot wire fence from a car which passed the building without lights. They said they had no clues as to who threw it.

Segregation groups previously have protested white and Negro audiences, even on a segregated basis, at Chilhowee Park for concerts such as Armstrong's.

But there had been no public protest against Tuesday night's program, billed well in advance.

The explosion was this area's second in a week with racial overtones.

Last Thursday night, several sticks of dynamite exploded in the heart of nearby Clinton's Negro section, slightly injuring a Negro woman and baby and damaging Negro-owned property.

Circleville Skull Is Bullet-Pierced

CIRCLEVILLE (AP) — A bullet-pierced skull found along the Scioto River bank near here Feb. 7 was that of a man at least 45 years old who has probably been dead at least five years.

Dr. Raymond Baby, curator of archaeology at Ohio State Museum, said his examination showed the man apparently was shot from behind at the base of the skull, possibly with a .22 caliber weapon.

The bullet, he said, ranged upward and came out just above the right eye. But neither Baby nor Pickaway County authorities could say whether the man was murdered or took his own life.

TUNIS (AP)—A sharp earthquake today killed 13 persons and injured about 35 others near the town of Souk el Khemis, about 100 miles west of Tunis.

Vandals Smash Phone Firm's Switchboards

35 Men Wreck Ohio Consolidated Gear In Jefferson County

STEUBENVILLE (AP) — About 35 men broke into the Dillonvale exchange of the strucl Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., Tuesday night and smashed windows, doors, switchboards and fixtures.

The exchange was knocked out of operation, and persons who tried to place calls to Dillonvale today were informed by Steubenville operators that the exchange is "out of service for the day."

The new violence came as negotiators for the company and the Communications Workers Union were reported nearing agreement in Columbus on a contract to end the seven-month old strike.

The union repeatedly has denied any knowledge of the cable cuttings and other vandalism which has marked the long strike.

Nobody was hurt in the Dillonvale affair. Eugene Hobart, Howard Dean and Richard Fleaner, "supervisory employes" who were on duty when the mob entered, fled the small building.

JEFFERSON County sheriff's deputies said they were unable to identify any of the vandals.

By the time officers arrived, the exchange was deserted.

In Columbus, another negotiation session was set for 2 p. m. Thursday in the Seneca Hotel.

E. L. Phillips, the federal mediator who has worked with the opposing groups for weeks in an effort to end the strike, was optimistic Tuesday night. He said:

"We don't want to raise any hopes, but we can't say one way or another whether a settlement may come tonight."

He commented then: "We're better off than we were." But he quickly added: "We're not there yet."

"There" would be settlement of the differences separating the company and union. These include retention of a union shop clause in the contract and 15 other issues.

Chamber Sees No Shortage Of Classrooms

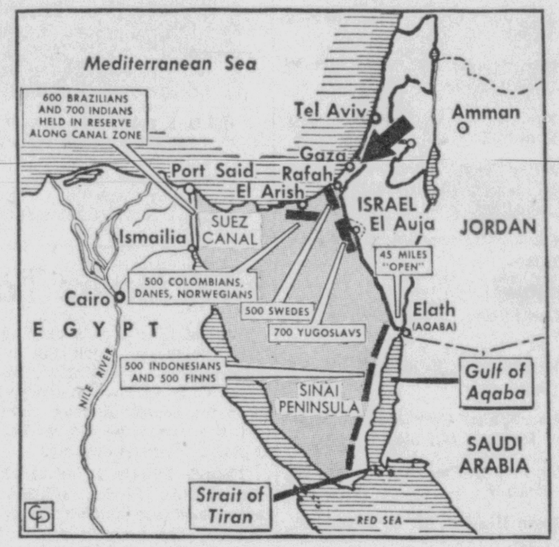
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce said today there is no critical national shortage of classrooms, and that it regards federal aid for school construction "unnecessary."

The chamber position was presented to a House education subcommittee by Thomas A. Ballantine of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on education.

He said in prepared testimony: "It is the consensus of business in this country that the states and their communities are responsible for, and able to finance the development of the school systems required by their citizens."

Federal help he said, "would lead inevitably to the transformation of public education from a state and local function to one increasingly directed by the federal government."

Ballantine said a report by the U. S. Office of Education states 53,000 new classrooms were built in the year ending last fall. About 49,000 of these would have taken care of the report's estimated enrollment increase of a million and its estimated figure of 14,000 for abandoned classrooms.



HERE IS WHERE United Nations forces are stationed in the Sinai peninsula, awaiting instructions. The Israelis hold the west shore of the Gulf of Aqaba to about 50 miles inland, and the Gaza strip. Those are the two crisis areas. As things stand now, Israel won't get out till assurance is given that Egypt won't be able to use the areas militarily or to block Israel's port of Elath at head of the gulf, and Egypt won't agree to anything till Israel gets out.

U. N. Aide To Relay Suez Plan to Egypt from West

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was expected to relay to Egypt today a four-nation plan for interim operation of the Suez Canal that would give Egypt at least half the tolls.

Authoritative sources said representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Norway presented the pla. Tuesday night in a 30-minute meeting with Hammarskjold. It reportedly hinged on these two main points:

1. Dividing the canal tolls with Egypt on a 50-50 basis once the waterway is opened to shipping. Tolls would be paid to the World Bank or to the U.N. itself. Half the money then would be credited to Egypt and the other half held pending a final canal settlement.

2. Use of the 103-mile canal by ships of all nations, including Israel.

The British Foreign Office said the world's major shipping nations had agreed to share the Suez tolls with Egypt, but London observers predicted the Egyptians would demand 100 per cent payment.

FROM THE TIME Egypt nationalized the canal July 26 until it was blocked during the October-November invasion, many shippers paid their tolls to the old Suez Canal Co. in London and Paris. The fees were being held pending settlement of the company's claims against Egypt for the nationalization.

The U. N. announced Deputy Undersecretary Alfred G. Katzin would fly to Egypt today for talks with U. N. officials on canal clearance operatons. There have been reports Egypt is holding up the clearance until Israel withdraws its troops from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba.

Target date for opening the waterway to vessels of up to 10,000 tons — bout 75 per cent of the normal traffic — is March 10. But recent reports have indicated that goal would not be met.

$1,000 Bequeathed To Hospital and To Grace Church

Memorial Hospital and Grace Methodist Church each will get $1,000 from the state of Mrs. Jennie P. Shoop when final settlement is made sometime within the next few months.

Under terms of Mrs. Shoop's will, the bequest to the hospital is for care and medical aid of indigent residents of Fayette County. It is to be used at the discretion of the hospital trustees.

The $1,000 left to Grace Church may be spent by the trustees in the manner they determine."

Mrs. Shoop, a native of Fayette County, spent much of her life in Chicago where her husband, the late John N. Shoop was superintendent of schools for many years. After his death, Mrs. Shoop returned to Washington C. H. where she lived until her death last Oct. 6.

The bulk of her estate was left to her only son, Arnold Shoop, of Greenwich, Conn., who also was named the administrator.

The will was admitted to probate in Probate Court here Oct. 9, but six months is allowed for final settlement.

After 136 Years Church Gets Pastor

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Presbytery of Cincinnati has filled a pulpit that has been vacant for 136 years.

It's the historic Somerset Presbyterian Church in Warren County organized in 1821, whose new pastor is the Rev. Wendell Taylor, now of Minneapolis. The Somerset church has been served by pastors of neighboring churches since it was organized.

Chicago Group Protests Ban By TV Outlet

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Chicago group today protested to the Federal Communications Commission the action of a Chicago television station in cancelling the film "Martin Luther."

The petition was filed by the Action Committee for Freedom of Religious Expressions, composed of representatives of various Protestant organizations.

The group claimed to have protesting petitions bearing signatures of about 150,000 Chicagoans, and that additional signatures are coming in at the rate of about 50,000 weekly.

The petition to the FCC describes as "arbitrary" the action of WGN-TV in canceling a showing of the film last December. The petition said the station announced the cancellation as a result of an "emotional reaction."

The petitioners ask that the station's license be revoked. WGN-TV is owned by the Chicago Tribune.

The petition says "condemnation of the film can be identified in almost every case with the Roman Catholic Church."

Martin Luther was a leader in the Protestant reformation in the 16th Century. The film about his life has been shown throughout the world, but the Chicago telecast would have been a TV premiere.

At the time WGN-TV announced cancellation of the showing of the film, Ward L. Quaal, the station's vice president and general manager, said that shortly after announcement of the scheduled showing "it became apparent that there was an emotional reaction to the plan."

Talk Tonight Scheduled To Detail Status

All Radio, TV Stations Asked To Grant Time For Chief's Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will go on the air tonight to report to the American people on the Middle East situation and Israel's refusal to withdraw troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

The White House said the hour would be decided later. It asked for time on all TV and radio networks.

Before the White House announcement, Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) reported that "the general purport" of Eisenhower's discussions this morning with congressional leaders was that the GOP administration will support sanctions against Israel if they are voted by the United Nations.

However, Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, reported no decision about possible support of sanctions had been "finalized."

Knowland said it was suggested in the meeting that an attempt be made to get the United Nations to give renewed assurances to Israel that U. N. troops will be stationed in the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba when Israeli troops are withdrawn from those areas.

Knowland reportedly has threatened to resign as a member of the U. S. delegation to the U. N. if the administration supports sanctions in an effort to force Israel to pull out its troops.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), asked whether any agreements were reached, told newsmen: "There were agreements and disagreements."

REP. MARTIN of Massachusetts, Republican House leader, and other participants said the whole field of sanctions—all kinds, was discussed.

The Congress members meeting with the President had virtually all taken stands earlier against sanctions.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate, paused on the White House threshold to restate his opposition to sanctions against Israel unless they are applied also to Egypt and Russia. He said that the Democratic Policy Committee supported this position unanimously Tuesday.

As he had told Secretary of state Dulles, Johnson said, "We shouldn't have one policy for the strong nations and one for the weak nations. My view is that

2 Whites Indicted In Negro Bombing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Two white men were free under bond today on charges of dynamiting the home of a Negro integration leader.

James D. York and Henry Alexander surrendered to Sheriff M. S. Butler Tuesday after the grand jury had indicted them for the Jan. 10 dynamiting of the home of the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy.

Police Chief G. J. Ruppenthal said Feb. 10 that the dynamiting of Abernathy's home and at least three other blasts of the seven in Montgomery "were perpetrated by members of the Montgomery branch of the Ku Klux Klan."

2 Circus Lions In Attendance at Wedding Service

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two lions were among guests at the wedding Tuesday night of George J. Kelier, college art instructor turned lion-tamer.

To be exact, the lions, Leo and Nosey, were in a cage at the Al Sirat Grotto Shrine Circus with the wedding party. Some 6,000 spectators watched from outside as the Rev. Walter Klein married Kelier and blonde Ginny Lowry.

Cautioned by ushers "not to make any sudden moves," the wedding party was noticeably uneasy. Only the bridegroom who owns and trained the lions, appeared at ease.

Keller, a former instructor at Pennsylvania State Teachers College, and his bride will travel with the circus.

Annual Report Made by Administrators

Memorial Hospital Service Increasing

A total of 4,039 patients received care in Memorial Hospital here last year, the annual report of the administrator, Miss Christene Evans, revealed.

This was an increase of 223 over the number cared for in 1955 and of 521 over 1954.

In addition to the 4,039 patients cared for and treated from a wide variety of ailments, the same staff cared for 4,514 "out patients"—that is patients who were not actually hospitalized for an extended period, but went there for some special service.

This was an increase of 25 over the number of "out patients" in 1955 and 1,179 more than in 1954.

THE GROSS operating income for the year was $463,090 and the operating expenses amounted to $437,914. That left $25,176 to cover bills, depreciation of the hospital and its facilities and certain improvements.

(This is one of the relatively few hospitals that operates within its income. Many have special tax levies, others get support from fund - raising campaigns and community chests. Memorial Hospital here does not maintain a big surplus; rather it operates within its income almost from week to week.)

The administrator's report to the board of trustees shows that contributions have played an important part in operation of the hospital. Frequently, in the report, there are references to payments made from the "special account"; that is payments made from the fund made up of donations.

THE REPORT, which says "our most important accomplishment" is the daily care of patients, follows:

"Some of you (trustees) have heard me (Miss Evans) say before that the medical staff is the hub of any hospital organization. We have 14 active staff members, 12 courtesy staff members and 13 consulting staff members. Each of these physicians makes every effort as individuals, as well as collectively, to advance himself clinically, through staff organization and other educational media. In addition to assuming responsibility for their own patients, they are devoted to the improvement of technological and scientific advances in patient care, as well as evaluat-

Fairground Suit Ended-Partition Now Next Step

Purchase of Tract By Future Fairs Is Now Possible

End of litigation in connection with ownership of the Fayette County Fairground and possible ultimate purchase of the 47-acre tract by The Fayette County Agricultural Society, appeared nearer Wednesday as result of an entry placed on the Common Pleas Court records by which the society dismissed the proceedings instituted to appropriate the fairground for agricultural purpose.

At the same time an entry went on the records appointing Paul Pennington, Tom Mark and Arch O. Riber, to appraise the Fairground.

If the grounds can not be partitioned, inasmuch as it is owned by three parties, it will go under the hammer and be sold to the highest bidder.

ATTORNEYS for the Agricultural Society stated in open court that their client would be one of the bidders with a view to purchasing the grounds to continue the Fayette County Fair.

Under the entry, the appropriation proceedings were dismissed without prejudice, so that if the Agriculture Society desires to file similar proceedings in the future, it may do so.

Costs in the case were levied against the plaintiff, other than costs adjudged against the defendants, Earl LeRoy Scott, Esther Scott Crone and Herbert W. Nushawg, by the Court of Appeals in a decision given Dec. 14, 1953.

(Scott and Mrs. Crone have died since the original suit was filed).

The action by the Agricultural Society came about during a hearing before Judge Charles Kirk of Clinton County Wednesday morning in the case of Earl Leroy Scott and Esther Scott Crone, against Herbert Wilson, who, under the Court of Appeals decree, owns one third interest in the Fairground.

In the hearing Wednesday, when decision was made to have the land appraised, following withdrawal of the Agricultural Society suit, C. William Malone and Lyman Brownfield, Columbus, represented Wilson and Forrest Ely, Batavia, represented the defendants.

Supplemental Soil Bank Bill Gets OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee has approved a bill providing far-reaching supplemental soil bank benefits to corn growers and most other farmers for the 1957 crop year.

The cost is impossible to pinpoint, but its principal effects would be to:

1. Provide $250 million of supplemental soil bank payments to farmers to cut down on corn and feed grains, and

2. Establish a separate $309 million soil bank program exclusively for grain growers with payments of $15 an acre for reducing feed grain acreage.

The bill is a substitute for the administration's limited program to stabilize corn prices and production.

Postal Fund Cut Brings Protests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Faced with protests from postal employes over proposed cuts, the House moved into its second day of debate today on a money bill for the Postoffice department

The committee recommended a reduction of $58 million in postoffice fund requests. A deluge of protests followed. The $3.1 billion approved by the committee is still $76 million more than the department had this year.

Rep. Gary (D-Va), who headed a subcommittee that drafted the bill, said that by halting Saturday deliveries of advertising matter sent at cheap rates it could save $10 million annually.

Texas OKs Boost In Oil Output

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission granted authority Tuesday to add 210,901 barrels to allowable daily March oil production over February. The move had been urged by federal officials to help meet the European shortage.

PTA Hears Talk on Liberia

Tropical Liberia gets only about three quarters as much rain as the State of Ohio, Joe O'Brien, Washington C. H. railroad man who lived in the central African country, told the Sunnyside Parent-Teacher Assn. Tuesday evening.

Though Liberia is about the size of Ohio, O'Brien said, it has only about one quarter the population. The nation's population is only about 2 million, he told the group, while Ohio's is more than 8 million.

The United States mapped Liberia in 1955, he recalled, but the mapping has never been thoroughly verified. As a whole, the country is only beginning to awaken to modern civilization, he said.

Mrs. O'Brien aided her husband, a railroader for 28 years, in his talk. The two showed colored slides and answered questions concerning the animals in Liberia, native wages and a variety of related topics.

EUGENE LADRACH presented a gift to the O'Briens at the conclusion of their talk.

The new promotion system in the city schools was explained to the group by Leo Whiteside, Sunnyside principal. Mrs. Harry Butler urged anyone interested in forming a Girl Scout unit to contact her.

Nominating committee was asked to have its report ready by the April 9 meeting, which will feature the group's annual potluck supper.

Mrs. Norman Troute, PTA president, thanked the committee which prepared treats distributed to Sunnyside children at Christmas.

T - shirts with "Sunnyside School" printed across the front will be sold as a PTA money-making project, Mrs. William Junk, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced.

The meeting was opened with a reading from the letter of Paul to the Philippians and from an article entitled "Be Sure to Smile," from the Ohio Parent - Teacher Magazine. Mrs. Troute conducted the session.

GI Buddies Play Cupid For Ohioans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Childhood sweethearts Howard Brenner and Daun Merchant were to exchange marriage vows today with the groom's Army buddies giving Cupid a big assist.

The 22-year-old Brenner is a private first class in the 156th Transport Company stationed at Camp Leroy Johnson.

He and his 19-year-old bride had prepared for the ceremony with no best man, no flowers, no music, no friends. They felt lonely 1,000 miles from their Akron, Ohio, homes.

But Lt. Roscoe Hope, commander of Brenner's company, heard about the ceremony and moved into action.

Plans called for Hope to walk down the aisle with pretty Daun this afternoon and platoon leaders Lt. Paul Muller and Lt. Norman McNeill to serve as ushers.

Capt. Robert Bauman was to sing "Because" and "Through the Years" and Capt. Walter Dickey's 7-year-old daughter was appointed flower girl.

The little chapel was to be filled with the 21 men of Brenner's company.

"It's wonderful," said the bride. "This is just like the little church at home."

However, Brandenburg, one of the Washington C. H. representatives, is known to be out of the county and not expected back for about 10 days.

The Citizens Committee is under moral obligation to call in an outside agency to make an impartial survey of school needs to guide it in its study.

This was made part of the court record of the trial of a taxpayers suit in Probate Court here against the boards of six district school boards through testimony by Hilty just before the suit was settled.

Judge John H. Houston of Brown County, sitting by assignment, made it plain in his statement after the trial-ending settlement was reached that a survey should be made by an outside agency.

The settlement of the suit paved the way for the formation of the Citizens Committee.

Indications are that Friday night first meeting of the Citizens Commitee will be devoted largely to routine organization procedures. One of the first moves is expected to be the selection of a chairman.

6 Western European Nations OK Pact

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said the treaties would be signed in Rome "as soon as possible" but that no date had been fixed. Under the common market plan the six nations of some 160 million people would do away with the customs and tariff barriers.

Others among the 28 visitors from the Capitol who spoke out against sanctions were Rep. Halleck (R-Ind), assistant minority leader in the House, and Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ). Smith said he thinks the emphasis should be on negotiation and attempting to work things out on a reasonable basis.

Dulles declined at a news conference Tuesday to rule out possible use of sanctions. But he noted at one point that "there are all kinds of sanctions," including moral, military and economic.

THE ADMINISTRATION found itself squeezed between Arab insistence that the United Nations impose sanctions on Israel and congressional demands that the United States oppose any such action as unfair.

Members of both parties have said that if sanctions are imposed on Israel, they should be applied also to Russia, India and other countries they say have ignored U. N. resolutions.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) expressed optimism that a "substantial understanding" with Israel is imminent. He said he is "very hopeful" Israel will agree to withdraw her troops, but there were no signs of general agreement with his feeling.

The U. N. has called on Israel to pull its troops out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba areas it captured last October. Israel has sought without success to get guarantees against Egyptian attacks from those areas before it withdraws.

Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon spent an hour at the State Department Tuesday and later reported:

"In the opinion of the whole Arab world, and indeed of the whole world, Israel must withdraw unconditionally."

$628 Is Sought For Flood Area

Red Cross Here To Accept Donations

A quota of $628 is being sought in Washington C. H. and Fayette County to aid victims of recent disastrous floods in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, Joseph Peters, county Red Cross chairman, announced today.

The amount is this community's quota in a nationwide solicitation of $5 million authorized as an emergency measure by Red Cross President Alfred M. Gruenther.

There will be no house-to-house solicitation, but mail contributions may be addressed to "Red Cross Chapter, Washington C. H.," and they'll get to the right place. a spokesman for the Red Cross board here said.

FLOOD damage to more than 19,000 families in the three - state area was discussed by the executive board of the chapter here at its meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office. Mrs. Leonard Korn also read a report of the chapter's bloodmobile program.

"Over 200 experienced disaster workers from all parts of the country" are helping with flood relief in the South, Gen. Gruenther said in a report to the chapter here. Gruenther personally toured the flooded area and reported "the total effect of the disaster is much greater than had been indicated by earlier reports."

"During the peak emergency, the Red Cross sheltered and fed over 10,000 persons," Gen. Gruenther said, adding, "we are now confronted with the long term job of assisting families and small businesses to recover from the effects of the blood".

Radioactivity In Milk Studied

Norman Myrick, editor of the American Milk Review, advised the milk processors in convention here to fight "scare" articles with facts to prevent the public distrust of milk from destroying the industry's narrow margin of profit from a wholesome diet item.

Strontium-90 is the radioactive element in milk. It is released by hydrogen bomb tests and carried around the world by winds.

After Years Abroad Ohioan Coming Home

FRANKFORT, Germany (AP)—"One of these days," a kindly 79-year - old American often told friends, "I want to go home."

The home J. Elmer Spyglass referred to is in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and this week, after an absence of 51 years, his wish will be filled.

Elmer settled in Germany after he came to Europe in 1906 as a singer. Well liked by everyone, he was never bothered by the Nazis in World War II.

When his Frankfort home was destroyed by bombs in 1944, he moved to the nearby village of Schwalbach, where, two years ago, the American was made an honorary citizen.

Elmer, whose German was flawless, went to work for the U. S. Army as an interpreter when the war ended. He later became a receptionist at the U. S. Consolate.

Last week, Elmer died unexpectedly. After funeral services here today, friends will ship his ashes to Ohio for burial in the family plot in Yellow Springs.

Fairground Suit Ended-Partition Now Next Step

Purchase of Tract By Future Fairs Is Now Possible

End of litigation in connection with ownership of the Fayette County Fairground and possible ultimate purchase of the 47-acre tract by The Fayette County Agricultural Society, appeared nearer Wednesday as result of an entry placed on the Common Pleas Court records by which the society dismissed the proceedings instituted to appropriate the fairground for agricultural purpose.

At the same time an entry went on the records appointing Paul Pennington, Tom Mark and Arch O. Riber, to appraise the Fairground.

If the grounds can not be partitioned, inasmuch as it is owned by three parties, it will go under the hammer and be sold to the highest bidder.

ATTORNEYS for the Agricultural Society stated in open court that their client would be one of the bidders with a view to purchasing the grounds to continue the Fayette County Fair.

Under the entry, the appropriation proceedings were dismissed without prejudice, so that if the Agriculture Society desires to file similar proceedings in the future, it may do so.

Costs in the case were levied against the plaintiff, other than costs adjudged against the defendants, Earl LeRoy Scott, Esther Scott Crone and Herbert W. Nushawg, by the Court of Appeals in a decision given Dec. 14, 1953.

(Scott and Mrs. Crone have died since the original suit was filed).

The action by the Agricultural Society came about during a hearing before Judge Charles Kirk of Clinton County Wednesday morning in the case of Earl Leroy Scott and Esther Scott Crone, against Herbert Wilson, who, under the Court of Appeals decree, owns one third interest in the Fairground.

In the hearing Wednesday, when decision was made to have the land appraised, following withdrawal of the Agricultural Society suit, C. William Malone and Lyman Brownfield, Columbus, represented Wilson and Forrest Ely, Batavia, represented the defendants.

Supplemental Soil Bank Bill Gets OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee has approved a bill providing far-reaching supplemental soil bank benefits to corn growers and most other farmers for the 1957 crop year.

The cost is impossible to pinpoint, but its principal effects would be to:

1. Provide $250 million of supplemental soil bank payments to farmers to cut down on corn and feed grains, and

2. Establish a separate $309 million soil bank program exclusively for grain growers with payments of $15 an acre for reducing feed grain acreage.

The bill is a substitute for the administration's limited program to stabilize corn prices and production.

Postal Fund Cut Brings Protests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Faced with protests from postal employes over proposed cuts, the House moved into its second day of debate today on a money bill for the Postoffice department.

The committee recommended a reduction of $58 million in postoffice fund requests. A deluge of protests followed. The $3.1 billion approved by the committee is still $76 million more than the department had this year.

Rep. Gary (D-Va), who headed a subcommittee that drafted the bill, said that by halting Saturday deliveries of advertising matter sent at cheap rates it could save $10 million annually.

Texas OKs Boost In Oil Output

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission granted authority Tuesday to add 210,901 barrels to allowable daily March oil production over February. The move had been urged by federal officials to help meet the European shortage.

The Interior Department said in a report that if both U.S. and European requirements are to be met, the domestic petroleum production during the next six weeks should be increased 300,000 barrels a day over January totals.

PTA Hears Talk on Liberia

Tropical Liberia gets only about three quarters as much rain as the State of Ohio, Joe O'Brien, Washington C. H. railroad man who lived in the central African country, told the Sunnyside Parent-Teacher Assn. Tuesday evening.

Though Liberia is about the size of Ohio, O'Brien said, it has only about one quarter the population. The nation's population is only about 2 million, he told the group, while Ohio's is more than 8 million.

The United States mapped Liberia in 1955, he recalled, but the mapping has never been thoroughly verified. As a whole, the country is only beginning to awaken to modern civilization, he said.

Mrs. O'Brien aided her husband, a railroader for 28 years, in his talk. The two showed colored slides and answered questions concerning the animals in Liberia, native wages and a variety of related topics.

The new promotion system in the city schools was explained to the group by Leo Whiteside, Sunnyside principal. Mrs. Harry Butler urged anyone interested in forming a Girl Scout unit to contact her.

Nominating committee was asked to have its report ready by the April 9 meeting, which will feature the group's annual potluck supper.

Mrs. Norman Troute, PTA president, thanked the committee which prepared treats distributed to Sunnyside children at Christmas.

T - shirts with "Sunnyside School" printed across the front will be sold as a PTA money-making project, Mrs. William Junk, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced.

The meeting was opened with a reading from the letter of Paul to the Philippians and from an article entitled "Be Sure to Smile," from the Ohio Parent - Teacher Magazine. Mrs. Troute conducted the session.

GI Buddies Play Cupid For Ohioans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Childhood sweethearts Howard Brenner and Daun Merchant were to exchange marriage vows today with the groom's Army buddies giving Cupid a big assist.

The 22-year-old Brenner is a private first class in the 156th Transport Company stationed at Camp Leroy Johnson.

He and his 19-year-old bride had prepared for the ceremony with no best man, no flowers, no music, no friends. They felt lonely 1,000 miles from their Akron, Ohio, homes.

But Lt. Roscoe Hope, commander of Brenner's company, heard about the ceremony and moved into action.

Plans called for Hope to walk down the aisle with pretty Daun this afternoon and platoon leaders Lt. Paul Muller and Lt. Norman McNeill to serve as ushers.

Capt. Robert Bauman was to sing "Because" and "Through the Years" and Capt. Walter Dickey's 7-year-old daughter was appointed flower girl.

The little chapel was to be filled with the 21 men of Brenner's company.

"It's wonderful," said the bride. "This is just like the little church at home."

day morning that none of them had had time yet to reply to his letter setting the time and place.

However, Brandenburg, one of the Washington C. H. representatives, is known to be out of the county and not expected back for about 10 days.

The Citizens Committee is under moral obligation to call in an outside agency to make an impartial survey of school needs to guide it in its study.

This was made part of the court record of the trial of a taxpayers suit in Probate Court here against the boards of six district school boards through testimony by Hilty just before the suit was settled.

Judge John H. Houston of Brown County, sitting by assignment, made it plain in his statement after the trial-ending settlement was reached that a survey should be made by an outside agency.

The settlement of the suit paved the way for the formation of the Citizens Committee.

Indications are that Friday night first meeting of the Citizens Commitee will be devoted largely to routine organization procedures. One of the first moves is expected to be the selection of a chairman.

6 Western European Nations OK Pact

PARIS (AP)—Top leaders of six West European nations today agreed on treaties providing for eventual abandonment of trade barriers among them.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said the treaties would be signed in Rome "as soon as possible" but that no date had been fixed. Once signed, they would have to win final approval from the parliaments of the six nations — France, West Germany Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Under the common market plan the six nations of some 160 million people would do away with the customs and tariff barriers.

there is no place for politics in foreign policy."

Others among the 28 visitors from the Capitol who spoke out against sanctions were Rep. Halleck (R-Ind), assistant minority leader in the House, and Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ). Smith said he thinks the emphasis should be on negotiation and attempting to work things out on a reasonable basis.

Dulles declined at a news conference Tuesday to rule out possible use of sanctions. But he noted at one point that "there are all kinds of sanctions," including moral, military and economic.

THE ADMINISTRATION found itself squeezed between Arab insistence that the United Nations impose sanctions on Israel and congressional demands that the United States oppose any such action as unfair.

Members of both parties have said that if sanctions are imposed on Israel, they should be applied also to Russia, India and other countries they say have ignored U. N. resolutions.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) expressed optimism that a "substantial understanding" with Israel is imminent. He said he is "very hopeful" Israel will agree to withdraw her troops, but there were no signs of general agreement with his feeling.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban left New York to report today at an important meeting of Israel's Cabinet in Jerusalem. He promised "a full report on my government's thinking" when he returns, but he did not say when that would be.

Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion put forward earlier in the week proposals which a spokesman there described as an attempt to bridge the gap between the U. S. and Israel positions. These proposals have not been made public.

The U. N. has called on Israel to pull its troops out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba areas it captured last October. Israel has sought without success to get guarantees against Egyptian attacks from those areas before it withdraws.

Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon spent an hour at the State Department Tuesday and later reported:

"In the opinion of the whole Arab world, and indeed of the whole world, Israel must withdraw unconditionally."

$628 Is Sought For Flood Area

Red Cross Here To Accept Donations

A quota of $628 is being sought in Washington C. H. and Fayette County to aid victims of recent disastrous floods in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, Joseph Peters, county Red Cross chairman, announced today.

The amount is this community's quota in a nationwide solicitation of $5 million authorized as an emergency measure by Red Cross President Alfred M. Gruenther.

There will be no house-to-house solicitation, but mail contributions may be addressed to "Red Cross Chapter, Washington C. H.," and they'll get to the right place. a spokesman for the Red Cross board here said.

FLOOD damage to more than 19,000 families in the three - state area was discussed by the executive board of the chapter here at its meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office. Mrs. Leonard Korn also read a report of the chapter's bloodmobile program.

"Over 200 experienced disaster workers from all parts of the country" are helping with flood relief in the South, Gen. Gruenther said in a report to the chapter here. Gruenther personally toured the flooded area and reported "the total effect of the disaster is much greater than had been indicated by earlier reports."

"During the peak emergency, the Red Cross sheltered and fed over 10,000 persons," Gen. Gruenther said, adding, "we are now confronted with the long term job of assisting families and small businesses to recover from the effects of the blood".

Radioactivity In Milk Studied

CLEVELAND (AP)—The dairy industry's greatest public relations challenge is the admitted presence of radioactivity in the public milk suuply, the Ohio Dairy Products Assn. was told Tuesday.

Norman Myrick, editor of the American Milk Review, advised the milk processors in convention here to fight "scare" articles with facts to prevent the public distrust of milk from destroying the industry's narrow margin of profit from a wholesome diet item.

Strontium-90 is the radioactive element in milk. It is released by hydrogen bomb tests and carried around the world by winds.

After Years Abroad Ohioan Coming Home

FRANKFORT, Germany (AP)—"One of these days," a kindly 79-year - old American often told friends, "I want to go home."

The home J. Elmer Spyglass referred to is in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and this week, after an absence of 51 years, his wish will be allowed.

Elmer settled in Germany after he came to Europe in 1906 as a singer. Well liked by everyone, he was never bothered by the Nazis in World War II.

When his Frankfort home was destroyed by bombs in 1944, he moved to the nearby village of Schwalbach, where, two years ago, the American was made an honorary citizen.

Elmer, whose German was flawless, went to work for the U. S. Army as an interpreter when the war ended. He later became a receptionist at the U. S. Consolate.

Last week, Elmer died unexpectedly. After funeral services here today, friends will ship his ashes to Ohio for burial in the family plot in Yellow Springs.

Scout Official Rotary Speaker

Using as his subject "Every Man in Alcatraz Was Once a Boy", C. O. Williams of Greenfield, Boy Scout executive for the Fayette-Highland counties' district, told Rotarians and guests, at their luncheon Tuesday at the Country Club, many interesting things regarding Boy Scout activities in the Central Ohio area and the general worthy accomplishments of the Boy Scout movement over the world.

Dewey Sheidler of the February program committee presented the speaker who opened his remarks with the statement "No man who ever lived was born to be bad—not Cain or Capone, not Harod or Hitler, not the gambler, the forger, or the killer. They all were boys once, but someone failed. Physical weakness is inherited but not moral weakness; to suggest otherwise is to absolve from blame any man who ever violated the laws of his land or his Creator."

PURSUING his subject further, Williams said: "It has been said with great truth that there are no bad boys and yet every man in Alcatraz was once a boy. Our boys today face a different world than past generations".

"What is it then that will turn a good boy in to a bad man?. In a sense it is his legs. As they lengthen, they begin to take him farther and farther from home. They separate him from whatever degree of discipline and guidance he has known, and put him increasingly on his own, for the first time since his first breath of life. They began to expose him to his first temptations, fears and frustrations.

"A boy's body grows faster than his mind. If he can find decent environment away from home, if he can be given something worthwhile to occupy his time until his brain catches up with his body, there is a far greater chance that a good boy will become a good man.

"That is the philosophy of scouting. During the past 47 years the Boy Scouts of America organization has laid hold of millions of our boys at this crucial crossroads stage of their lives. Scouting gives a boy an honorable and worthwhile objective."

IN TOUCHING more intimately on Boy Scout work in this region Williams explained that the Central Ohio Council of which Fayette County is one District of the fourteen served by the council, has a total of 328 boys in scouting. There could be almost 1,000 if the organization could find churches, lodges and other groups interested in sponsoring units," he said.

Going further into the scouting work in this locality he declared "Scouting is big business, There is 24,646 accounts handled each year with over 200,000 operations entered each year on the books for this area.

"110 training courses are conducted in the Council each year. It owns and operates five camps for boys and leaders,with a total value of $600,000 — The camp budget for operating these five camps is $3,200.00 per year."

Camp Lazarus alone served 31, 600 meals in a period of six weeks to boys and men.

* * *

THE COUNCIL plans, promotes, and conducts the Scout-O-Rama, which is the largest boys' show in Central Ohio and is performed in front of 40,000 spectators each year. The annual budget for this operation is $8,000, Williams said.

The Council also operates a visual aid program for 20,000 viewers with no budget for replacement.

During the pre-program session of the club, Dr. Robert Woodmansee made a plea for strong Rotarian interest in the "Heart Campaign" soon in progress here.

BIRTHDAY greetings were sung for Frank Jackson and Allen White with each making a donation to the club's youth fund.

John E. Ellcessor presented Roger Klontz as the student guest who is specializing in science and mathematics in his school work. Klontz thanked the Rotarians for his invitation to be present.

Rotarians who were guests of the club were Dr. Bentor. V. Scott of Chillicothe, Robert Lommers of Hillsboro and a group of four from Greenfield, Joseph Dillon, Allen Johnson, Charles Gregg and W. H. Shawhon.

Variety Marks FFA Projects

JEFFERSONVILLE — The 32 Future Farmers of Jeffersonville High School are observing National FFA Week now—but without the slightest interruption of either classroom studies or their on-the-farm projects, W. A. Haines, the club advisor and vocational agriculture teacher, said.

About the only outward evidence of "National FFA Week," Haines said, are the two displays set up in store windows, in at the Craig Store in Washington C. H. and the other in the Mannier Store in Jeffersonville.

What the public can't see—without taking the time to go out to the homes of the Future Farmers—are the projects being carried out for actual farming experience.

These projects, which follow very closely the pattern of general farming in Fayette County, are dominated by some form of livestock production.

ANOTHER member of the chapter, John J. Ritenour Jr., included with the chapter roll by Kenneth Pettit, a tribute to the advisor:

"February 16-23 being National FFA Week I am going to write about a little known figure in the work of every FFA chapter, the advisor. He is the push behind most FFA work. He is the one who sees that all business is brought up at the meetings. He is the one who sees that the officers and committees have their reports ready. He is the one to whom all boys in vocational agriculture turn at one time or another. It is the advisor who trains the boys who win the judging contests. I think that this week, when we read about all the FFA chapter doings, we should think of a little man back in the shadows that is behind all of this, and thank him."

Top TV Quizzers To Pay Heavy Tax On Lush Winnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Tax experts figure that television's top money winner, 11-year-old Lennie Ross, will keep somewhere between $60,000 and $70,000 of the $164,000 he walked away with.

The calendar is a big help to the young stock-market expert since he won $100,000 on a quiz show last year and the balance on another show this year. By declaring his income in separate years he saves about $5,000, the experts estimate. They say his taxes will be $60-65,000 for last year, and $52-36,000 this year.

Not so lucky is Columbia University instructor Charles Van Doren, who has won $143,000 so far.

His winnings will be paid this year and that makes him liable to a $100,000 to $110,000 tax bite. This will leave the $4,400-a-year teacher about $40,000.

Oil Firm Earnings Seen Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. O'Mahoney (D-wyo) says the recent increase in domestic crude oil prices will boost earnings of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and its affiliates by $100 million.

M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil of New Jersey, said a price increase was "long overdue," and he added: "I believe it would have happened in 1957 irrespective of the Suez crisis."

O'Mahoney, presiding over an inquiry by Senate subcommittees on anti-trust matters, said major companies operating the oil lift are giving little attention "to the economic effect upon consumers anywhere."

Public and Government Spending and Inflation

It does not seem to make much difference what major party is in control of the federal government, expenditures go merrily upward.

The people who are paying the bill do not like to be told by the spenders that there is no cause for worry, that we are "spending our nation rich".

Somehow that does not sound sensible and the many people whose income is fixed and who cannot get more money as inflation goes up, certainly will not agree with that idea.

The federal government sets a bad example for state and local governments. Many of them have likewise been afflicted with that dread economic disease, "Spenditis."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told a Congressional Committee recently that "the avoidance of a disastrous inflation depends on the courage, self-restraint, and determination of the people "themselves." Unless Americans limit demands for more governmental services, the Secretary declared, it will be impossible to reduce governmental spending and impossible to reduce the tremendous inflationary pressure generated by that spending. Unless Americans voluntarily cut down on major personal expenditures, he continued, there can be small hope of an easing in the tight-money market or for a general decline in consumer prices.

This seems sensible as did President Eisenhower's recent plea for employers and employes to curb their desires for bigger profits and higher wages. Inflation also feeds on the exorbitant spending of individuals and industries and the government alone cannot "starve" inflation into extinction.

World War II experience snows that Federal wage and price controls, combined with stiff Federal Reserve Board regulations over money supplies, cannot permanently keep living costs in bounds when consumer demand exceeds consumer production.

Our congress could do a little more toward cutting expenditures by passing bills more along lines of the Hoover Commission recommendations for cutting down waste spending. Will it?

Joe College — a Great Guy

By Hal Boyle

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Joe College today is a great guy.

Don't let anyone tell you he's just a spoiled retired teen-ager who thinks life is simply one long grand ride on golden roller skates.

I came out here to teach Joe College something, but the real result, I feel, is that I have learned a lot from him. There is nothing like a visit to a modern campus to make an old grad feel young and immature.

It is the custom at Southern Illinois University here to bring a working newspaperman in periodically to talk to the student journalists. The victim is known as the Elijah Lovejoy Memorial Lecturer.

Lovejoy, an early abolitionist, was an editor who was shot to death by a mob in Alton, Ill., in 1837. Just why they brought me here I am not sure, unless it was to prove—120 years late—that they shot the wrong newsman.

Twenty-five years have galloped into the stall of oblivion since I was graduated from the University of Missouri. On the way here I wondered whether college life had changed much.

At first sight I felt sure it hadn't. The corduroy trousers and sweat shirts still looked as unpressed as in the days when I wore them.

But after three days of almost continuous bull sessions with the lords and ladies of this campus, I found a number of differences.

For one thing some 10 per cent of the 6,000 students here are married. When I was in college and a student learned he was to become a father, he generally left town. Now he is called into the dean's office, congratulated, and handed a cigar.

Typical of the young married couples are Bill and Marcia Spacy. They live in a trailer and have two small children.

Bill, who is an Army veteran, is studying to be a photographer. He holds a scholarship and also a parttime job.

A few weeks after Marcia had her second child last summer, she enrolled for the regular fall term in the school of education. She is a straight "A" student, and that means "awesome."

"We have our problems," said Bill. "But this is the best way to live."

All the Joe Colleges I met seemed to have one quality in common: an optimistic confidence that life would turn out well with them.

How different Joe College was in 1932. We were smart-alec and cynical, because in that depression time we felt the world had small use for us.

We tried to make a joke of it and called ourselves, "the unemployables." We weren't members of "the lost generation." That was a few years before us. We were of the "get lost" generation. We felt unsure, doubtful of ourselves, unwanted in a job-hungry universe.

I remarked on this to a former classmate who recalls those times as well as I do—Dr. Howard R. Long now chairman of the department of journalism here.

"It's true these kids are less aimless and cynical than we were," he agreed. "They are more sure of what they want because they feel more sure that they can get what they do want.

"That's one reason why they are so willing to get married young. We used to dream of being big shots. Few of these kids do. They don't have boundless ambition, but they have faith in the future.

"They feel the world's their oyster, whether it's served to them on a platter or not. Most of them are quite willing to work. The main thing is they feel there is a place waiting for them when they leave college."

It is wonderful to see young people happy in the present and confident of the future. Isn't that really how we'd all like to be?

I had half a mind to enroll as a freshman myself—and start all over again.

Diplomatic Immunity Saves Him

By George Sokolsky

Dr. Joza Brilej, Yugoslav Ambassador to the United Nations, was blithely driving his car west on 66th street in New York. He went through a red light; he bumped into another car; he went up on the sidewalk, killed Mrs. Ruth La Bartunek who was gently minding her own business but who was pinned against a building by this Yugoslav Ambassador's car which he was driving.

Dr. Brilej was quite sorry and sent some emissaries to the La Bartunek family to ask if he could contribute to the funeral expenses. Beyond that he had no responsibility because he is entitled to diplomatic immunity by which is meant that he lives in our midst under extraterritoriality and is not subject to our laws.

It is legal for him and for a few hundred other people connected with the United Nations to go through red lights. The police cannot arrest him because he has diplomatic immunity. He can bump into another car and damage it but nothing can be done about that; he cannot even be sued for damages because he is not subject to our laws. He can kill a woman, a mother of five children, but he cannot be arrested for murder or for reckless driving; the police may not investigate whether he was drunk or sober when he lost control of his car; the police may not even inquire as to whether he had a license to drive a car. He is a big shot, an Ambassador and enjoys extraterritoriality which includes the right to kill a woman going into a grocery store.

Of course, a man may be a diplomat and a gentleman, too. That has happened. Such a person would obey the traffic regulations of the place where he happened to be stationed because a gentleman does not take advantage of his position. But it is too much to expect of the folks who have been thrown into high position by war and revolution that they would even know the meaning of noblesse oblige. So they go through red lights, they park their cars in front of fire hydrants. They double park and triple park to the inconvenience of tax-paying Americans and now one has actually run down and killed an American woman. He killed her on a sidewalk as she was walking into a store.

It is an easy-going, soft people that takes that sort of thing lying down. There was a time when American were less refined and when somebody's fist would have settled this question of diplomatic immunity. What happens to these heroes in our westerns which millions follow every day on television, these heroic characters who protect womenhood and motherhood and virtue? Do they not inculcate a sense of obligation to stand up for what is right? Or must we let these frisky Ambassadors imperil our wives and children while they break every traffic law with cars bearing DPL license plates? DP,, indeed!

The least the State Department can do is to notify the Yugoslav Ambassador that the streets of New York City are closed to him. He can remain in the United Nations building as long as Tito wants to keep him there, but he has committed a homicide on New York streets and the streets are closed to him. Of course, the State Department will do no such thing because its personnel is made up of diplomats who do not speak rudely to diplomats and who believe in extraterritoriality because when they go to other countries, they live by it.

But Tito did not always practice it and as I recall, when our Ambassador to Yugoslavia was Richard C. Patterson, Jr., Tito was rude to him and to his lovely wife and nobody made much of a fuss about that because, I presume, it was expected that Tito would be rude. That was before Tito was kicked out of the cominform by Stalin and turned his face westward to get a cool billion of the American taxpayer's dollars.

May I suggest to Senator Green and Representative Gordon of the Senate and House Committees dealing with foreign affairs that they might hold public hearings into the misconduct of foreign officials in New York. They would get an earful and the public would discover that when the striped pants come off, some of these fellows are no better than they were before the revolution.

Mother Stress Might Cause Baby Defect

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Severe emotional stress experienced by some expectant mothers during early pregnancy may be linked to cleft palate, harelip and other congenital abnormalities of the newborn baby.

However, it is thought that adequate amounts of vitamins B6, B12, C and other essential nutrients in the diet during pregnancy may help prevent such defects.

These at least are the indications of experiments and tests conducted by two New Jersey doctors, Lyon P. Stream and Lyndon A. Peer.

Suffered Stress

Investigating 232 cases of harelip and cleft palate, they found that most of the mothers suffered some kind of stress during the eighth and tenth week of pregnancy. This is the period during which the maxillae, or upper jaw bones, fuse in the human embryo.

The emotional distress took various forms.

In some cases, there was a death in the family; in others, some member of the family lost a job—or there were other family difficulties.

The anxiety of the mother, because this was her first pregnancy, was found in 40 per cent of the cases.

Significant Factors

Illnesses such as measles, chickenpox, diabetes and others, as well as injuries and accidents, also were significant factors in some cases.

Tests with mice further supported the studies.

When mice were exposed to stress at the time when the jaw bones would ordinarily fuse, 87 per cent of them produced offspring with cleft palate.

Doses of Vitamins

However, when other mice also were subjected to stress, but protected by massive doses of vitamins B6, B12, C and other nutrients, the incidence of cleft palate was reduced.

Since these investigations were conducted, other studies along these lines have been expanded.

Scientists are now seeking to determine whether such congenital abnormalities can be prevented by neutralizing the catabolic effect of the stress reaction with anabolic effect of vitamins and nutrients needed for protein synthesis.

Cleft palate is not uncommon. It occurs in about one of every 770 births.

The age of the parents doesn't seem to be a factor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

I. H.: I recently had an examination and was told I have subcutaneous nodules. What would cause them?

Answer: Swelling under the skin might be due to a variety of causes.

A condition known as von Reckinghausen produces swellings of this type. Multiple tumors of other types might also occur.

You should have a biopsy done of these swellings; that is, a bit of tissue should be removed and examined under the microscope to help determine their cause.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's meeting with congressional leaders today is an encore. He met with them 51 days ago on the same problem: the Middle East. In that time the problem has deepened.

So has confusion over this country's thinking on the Middle East, including Israel. For 51 days the administration — or, rather, Secretary of State Dulles — has talked almost continually on the Middle East.

In that time the cherished Democratic-Republican bipartisanship on foreign policy has been badly split. And Dulles has been treated to the most angry Democratic criticism of his four years in office, even to being called a "liar."

If Dulles had talked less, and more to the point, there would now be a clearer understanding at home and abroad of what the administration has in mind on the Middle East in general and Israel in particular.

Instead of letting Democratic congressional leaders be the first to know of the program and tell how they felt, the administration — meaning Dulles' State Department — "leaked" it to a newspaper Dec. 28.

Democrats have indicated since they consider this an attempt to build up public pressure on them for approval before Eisenhower ever asked for their views. His program was a three-in-one package. He wanted congressional approval for:

Huge economic aid to the Middle East, although who'll get it, and how and why, is not clear; gifts of arms to certain Middle Eastern countries; and use of American armed forces to stop Communist aggression in the area.

There followed many days of testimony by Dulles and other administration officials before congressional committees, publicly and behind closed doors. In all he said Dulles followed one consistent line: vagueness. It irritated Democrats.

The House has approved the program. The Senate, starting debate on it this week, will probably put some strings on it.

Meanwhile, something else had been happening.

Israel had ignored the United Nations' demand that it quit territory claimed by Egypt, contending it first must have guarantees against Egyptian attack. The Arab members of the U.N. were getting set to ask for sanctions against Israel for defying the world organization.

But the U.N. has not even considered sanctions against a big power — Russia — which ignored the U.N. demand that it get out of Hungary.

Israel not only is a friend of the United States, which helped create it, but has a lot of friends in this country, including members of Congress, who oppose sanctions against it.

But if the United States refuses to vote sanctions against Israel, it would antagonize the Arabs at the moment the administration is trying to win them over with Eisenhower's program.

In the hope of avoding such a showdown, Dulles asked Israel to pull back its troops. But Israel refused Dulles just as it had refused the U.N.

Now the squeeze is on. The Democratic Policy Committee in the Senate voted unanimously Tuesday against sanctions on Israel. And Eisenhower's own Republican Senate leader, William Knowland of California, has come out flatly against sanctions.

Dulles will now have to talk his way out of this one, or get in deeper.

Illnesses such as measles, chickenpox, diabetes and others, as well as injuries and accidents, also were significant factors in some cases.

Tests with mice further supported the studies.

When mice were exposed to stress at the time when the jaw bones would ordinarily fuse, 87 per cent of them produced offspring with cleft palate.

Doses of Vitamins

However, when other mice also were subjected to stress, but protected by massive doses of vitamins B6, B12, C and other nutrients, the incidence of cleft palate was reduced.

Since these investigations were conducted, other studies along these lines have been expanded.

Scientists are now seeking to determine whether such congenital abnormalities can be prevented by neutralizing the catabolic effect of the stress reaction with anabolic effect of vitamins and nutrients needed for protein synthesis.

Cleft palate is not uncommon. It occurs in about one of every 770 births.

The age of the parents doesn't seem to be a factor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

I. H.: I recently had an examination and was told I have subcutaneous nodules. What would cause them?

Answer: Swelling under the skin might be due to a variety of causes.

A condition known as von Reckinghausen produces swellings of this type. Multiple tumors of other types might also occur.

You should have a biopsy done of these swellings; that is, a bit of tissue should be removed and examined under the microscope to help determine their cause.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's meeting with congressional leaders today is an encore. He met with them 51 days ago on the same problem: the Middle East. In that time the problem has deepened.

So has confusion over this country's thinking on the Middle East, including Israel. For 51 days the administration — or, rather, Secretary of State Dulles — has talked almost continually on the Middle East.

In that time the cherished Democratic-Republican bipartisanship on foreign policy has been badly split. And Dulles has been treated to the most angry Democratic criticism of his four years in office, even to being called a "liar."

If Dulles had talked less, and more to the point, there would now be a clearer understanding at home and abroad of what the administration has in mind on the Middle East in general and Israel in particular.

Instead of letting Democratic congressional leaders be the first to know of the program and tell how they felt, the administration — meaning Dulles' State Department — "leaked" it to a newspaper Dec. 28.

Democrats have indicated since they consider this an attempt to build up public pressure on them for approval before Eisenhower ever asked for their views. His program was a three-in-one package. He wanted congressional approval for:

Huge economic aid to the Middle East, although who'll get it, and how and why, is not clear; gifts of arms to certain Middle Eastern countries; and use of American armed forces to stop Communist aggression in the area.

There followed many days of testimony by Dulles and other administration officials before congressional committees, publicly and behind closed doors. In all he said Dulles followed one consistent line: vagueness. It irritated Democrats.

The House has approved the program. The Senate, starting debate on it this week, will probably put some strings on it.

Meanwhile, something else had been happening.

Israel had ignored the United Nations' demand that it quit territory claimed by Egypt, contending it first must have guarantees against Egyptian attack. The Arab members of the U.N. were getting set to ask for sanctions against Israel for defying the world organization.

But the U.N. has not even considered sanctions against a big power — Russia — which ignored the U.N. demand that it get out of Hungary.

Israel not only is a friend of the United States, which helped create it, but has a lot of friends in this country, including members of Congress, who oppose sanctions against it.

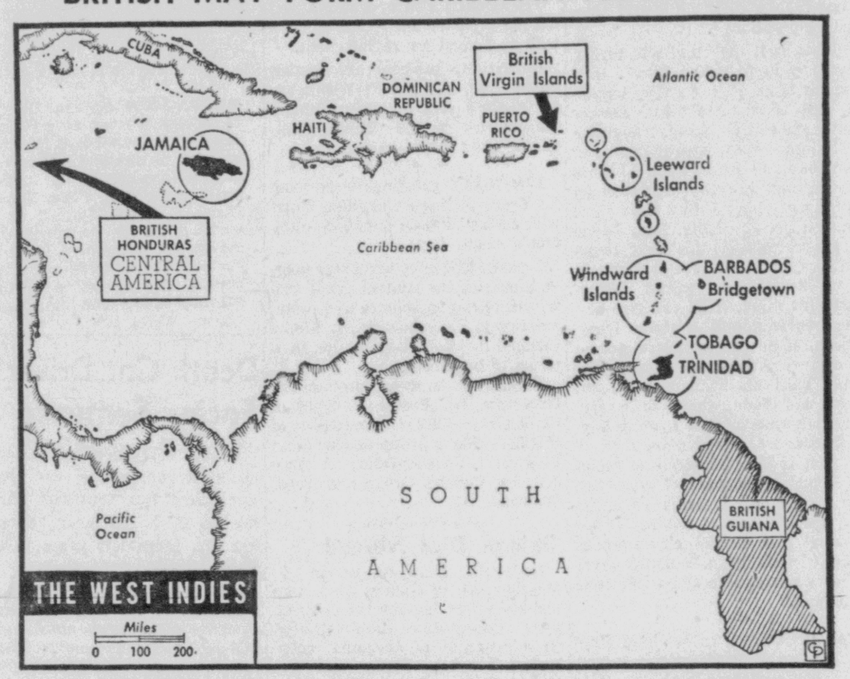
But if the United States refuses to vote sanctions against Israel, it would antagonize the Arabs at the moment the administration is trying to win them over with Eisenhower's program.

In the hope of avoding such a showdown, Dulles asked Israel to pull back its troops. But Israel refused Dulles just as it had refused the U.N.

Now the squeeze is on. The Democratic Policy Committee in the Senate voted unanimously Tuesday against sanctions on Israel. And Eisenhower's own Republican Senate leader, William Knowland of California, has come out flatly against sanctions.

Dulles will now have to talk his way out of this one, or get in deeper.

BRITISH MAY FORM CARIBBEAN FEDERATION



FIVE BRITISH COLONIES (circled) in the West Indies would be formed into a Caribbean Federation under a plan hanging fire in London. They are Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago, Barbados, and the Windward Islands and Leeward Islands. Capital would be a District of Columbia-like area near Bridgetown, Barbados. Colonies opposed to federation include British Honduras and British Guiana.

Afternoon Unit League Of Women Voters Meets with Mrs. Payton

Mrs. Hugh Payton was hostess to the Afternoon Unit of the League of Women Voters Monday at her lovely home and as the guests arrived they were served coffee and delicacies in keeping with the season.

The president, Mrs. John Case, gave a resume of league activities both on the national and state levels. She spoke of the Liberty - Security (or defense) program and Conservation. the first two having been given most consideration in the establishment of our government.

The League has eight continuing responsibilities. Mrs. Case spoke of the very pleasant interview that she and members of the League had with State Senator Lowell Fess, in Yellow Springs Friday, February 15, and Mrs. Paul Craig and Mrs. Lawrence Burris gave a report of the meeting. Ohio's legislative program and especially the new State Board of Education were thoroughly discussed.

Wednesday, March 13th, members of the local League are invited to attend the Ohio State Legislature in Columbus. Mrs. Davis of Lima, the State League Legislatvie Chairman will be there to greet the members.

Mrs. Michael Harrison and Mrs. Paul Craig gave a continuation and resume of the January program concerning income, revenues and ways to spend them in keeping with the State League's study of Ohio State Finance. The incentive for this study was the League's interest in the State Board of Education and how it was to be financed.

"Education heads the list of most state programs and next comes "Highways" and third, "Mental Health". An increase in severance taxes is one of the suggestions for bringing more money into the state treasury. These taxes come from natural resources such as coal, crude oil, petroleum, gas, stone gravel, sand, etc.

The plan to revise and publish the study of "Know Your Town" will be one of this year's projects for the local League.

Mrs. Case announced the meeting of the "Evening Unit" will be held at the home of Mrs. George B. Stitt, 625 Lewis St., seven thirty in the evening, Wednesday, February 20th.

Mother's Circle Meets With Mrs. Willis

Pupils of Hi-Y and Y-Teen made up a panel for discussion at the meeting of the Mother's Circle at the home of Mrs. Richard R. Willis, Jr., Monday evening.

Tom Swaim acted as moderator, and introduced the other members of the panel, Webb Ellis, Janet Ellis, Nancy Reno, Wanda Tracey, and Dan Miller.

After brief remarks by each panelist concerning the parent - child relationships, hours of dating, finances, what parents should teach children, and what boys and girls expect of their dates, questions asked by members of the circle led to a most lively and interesting discussion by these poised and ambitious youngsters.

They asked for understanding and trust, and feel that above all manners and respect should be taught by the parents. Disciplinary action should be taken by the parents when a rule is disobeyed, but only after the reason for the discipline is explained. Both the girls and boys stressed these most desired qualities in their own friendships, neatness, manners, respect, high moral standards, pleasing personality and ability to carry on a conversation.

Mrs. Willis, the president, conducted the business meeting during which routine reports were heard. A contribution to the Heart Fund was made, and a committee of Mrs. Otis Core, chairman, Mrs. Robert Link, Mrs. Richard Barger were appointed to nominate officers for next year.

Dessert was served by the hostesses Mrs. Darrell Thornton, chairman, Mrs. David Ogan and Mrs. Hugh Rea.

Do Your Own Research On Worth of Antique

By VIVIAN BROWN
By The Associated Press

There comes a time in the life of almost every woman when she suspects or hopes that some trinket or china piece in her cupboard, attic, cellar or barn is the real McCoy.

She comes of age in her antique reading or suddenly needs money, and then she conducts a tour of old whatnots that lie around her home.

How does a person discover the worth, if any, of these articles? Should she risk taking them to an appraiser? Will he gyp her? How will she know if her treasured article has real value? Here are some suggestions that may help in your quest for assistance:

(1) Make a sketch or take a photograph of the object to the public library. Look it up under its proper heading — pewter, silver, Brittania ware, china, glassware. If you aren't sure, a book in the general category of your object will give you a clue. Be sure that you copy off marks that appear on the piece such as crossed-swords on Meissen ware (many reproductions now dotting the market) or cherubs and hearts on a trivet. The librarian may help you locate the proper book.

(2) Once you determine that your piece is of a certain period—perhaps a Georgian piece of silver—you are ready to go to a dealer. Take it to several dealers. Compare offers, and then decide if you want to part with your piece. It may be worth more to you than the cash involved if it is an interesting, old piece, and if it will increase in value.

* * *

ARTICLES that may have value include these:

Old glass — glass made after 1830 is not considered antique although much of it, such as Sandwich and pressed glass, often brings good prices, and is prized by collectors.

Sparkling cut glassware made during the brilliant period of the late 1800s is popular also, although it is not considered antique. Another type of glass made about the same time is Amberina, now very popular and bringing fancy prices.

This glass is identified easily because it runs from a yellow amber shade to a deep ruby. A great deal of collecting of Tiffany glass is under way at the moment. This glass is many-shaded and irridescent, and sometimes may be found with the initials "LCT" or the name "Tiffany" or "Favrile" marked on the base.

Milk glass is flooding antique shops because many pieces reproduced today are made from original molds, confusing collectors. The old and new glass is different in appearance however, and one who has spent a great deal of time collecting this glass should know the difference. Neophytes may be fooled. The milk glass duck patented by Thomas B. Atterbury is so marked with the patent date. Reproductions are not.

CHINA IS BEST identified by its marks and some good books are available, although much early china was not marked and is only identified by color, texture and pattern. Ironstone is one kind of china frequently found in old barns. It was made plentifully from the 1800s in England and in America, and was popular with farm families because it held the heat so well. Most ironstone ware collected is plain white — undecorated soup tureens, platters, serving dishes.

Staffordshire is more likely to be found in the home that specialized in fancy table services. The blue willow pattern on white, is easiest to recognize. Mulberry and white is also a great favorite with collectors, but scarcer.

Almost any family has some family silver, Brittania ware, or pewter that may have been passed along for one or more generations. There are many books containing the hallmarks needed to identify these pieces. A magnifying glass may be needed to read the marks so that the piece may be properly identified when you attempt to trace its origin.

Fear of Federal Control Decried

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—An authority on school administration believes the fear that federal control would follow federal aid to education "is somewhat ridiculous because we already have substantial federal control without federal aid."

R. L. Johns, of the University of Florida, told the American Assn. of School Administrators:

"The issue is not whether we shall have or shall not have federal control of education. The issue is whether the federal control being exercised is good or bad."

Highway Chiefs Eye New Building

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways may move into the building formerly occupied by the Ohio Turnpike Commission, reports say.

The State Controlling Board has cleared the way for purchase of the structure by unanimously approving the release of highway improvement funds for acquisition of the property.

The board previously rejected attempts to buy the structure for $275,000, saying it believed further expansion of property in Columbus should be deferred.

Veteran Actor Sees Change In Hollywood's Atmosphere

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Has Hollywood changed? Listen to Oscar Homolka if you don't think so.

The distinguished character actor is back in the movie town for his first stay in almost 10 years. "I would hardly recognize the place," he commented.

How so? He explained:

"When I first arrived here in 1937, the red carpet treatment was the big thing. I was borrowed from Gaumont-British to make a picture for Paramount, 'Ebb Tide.' When I got to New York, I was put up in a monstrous place in the Waldorf Towers. Then one of the studio people decided it wasn't big enough, and they get me a bigger place.

"They had a press reception for me with 500 people. Anad I got the same treatment when I went to Hollywood. It was fabulous."

That sort of lavishness is gone today, he observed, along with some other things.

"Hollywood lacks the stars that it had in those days," he sighed. "I mean the fabulous stars of the Garbo era. Today there is no mystery, no excitement about the stars. There is too much emphasis on domesticity.

"Take he example of the Lucille Ball baby. When she had it, the whole world was in on it. Where is the glamor?"

Gone, he added, are the parties of yesteryear — the fun affairs where stars could kick off their shoes and enjoy themselves.

"Nowadays there seem to be big parties or none at all." Homolka said. "And none of the guests seems to enjoy themselves. They are too busy looking around to see who is there."

He remarked that there appeared to be a new kind of Hollywoodian these days, the arty type that used to hang around Greenwich Village.

"Television has done that, I guess," the actor remarked. "That crowd used to stay in New York because that's where the work was. But with television out here now, they can find enough to keep them busy."

Homolka can attest to the fact that TV has helped the actor, since he's here to do a couple of Matinee Theater shows on NBC—an Ibsen and a Tennessee Williams.

Hollywood, he sighed, looks just a little shabby after a 10-year absence. But lest the Chamber of Commerce get too indignant he added: "When I have breakfast by the swimming pool at my hotel these mornings, I realize that it can also be a pretty nice place, too."

A course in nuclear energy is the latest addition to correspondence studies, the National Home Study Council reports.

Army Engineers Plan Consolidation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consolidation of inventory control and accounting of Army engineer supplies at St. Louis instead of at seven different depots, was announced here this week.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) said Maj. Gen. E. C. Itschner chief of engineers, told him the change to increase efficiency would be put into effect gradually over a period from April 1 to Oct 1.

He said the Army reported that approximately 300 civilian employes at the various depots will be given an opportunity to transfer to St. Louis.

Affected depots, Symington said include the Marion Engineer Depot, Marion, Ohio, April 1.

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — An illuminated sign in dosntown Vancouver carries this admonition:

"Remember it's better to sit tight than drive that way."

Probably the most familiar of all opera's, Bizet's "Carmen," was first performed in Paris in 1875.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation ...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Veteran Actor Sees Change In Hollywood's Atmosphere

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Has Hollywood changed? Listen to Oscar Homolka if you don't think so.

The distinguished character actor is back in the movie town for his first stay in almost 10 years. "I would hardly recognize the place," he commented.

How so? He explained:

"When I first arrived here in 1937, the red carpet treatment was the big thing. I was borrowed from Gaumont-British to make a picture for Paramount, 'Ebb Tide.' When I got to New York, I was put up in a monstrous place in the Waldorf Towers. Then one of the studio people decided it wasn't big enough, and they get me a bigger place.

"They had a press reception for me with 500 people. Anad I got the same treatment when I went to Hollywood. It was fabulous."

That sort of lavishness is gone today, he observed, along with some other things.

"Hollywood lacks the stars that it had in those days," he sighed. "I mean the fabulous stars of the Garbo era. Today there is no mystery, no excitement about the stars. There is too much emphasis on domesticity.

"Take the example of the Lucille Ball baby. When she had it, the whole world was in on it. Where is the glamor?"

Gone, he added, are the parties of yesteryear — the fun affairs where stars could kick off their shoes and enjoy themselves.

"Nowadays there seem to be big parties or none at all." Homolka said. "And none of the guests seems to enjoy themselves. They are too busy looking around to see who is there."

He remarked that there appeared to be a new kind of Hollywoodian these days, the arty type that used to hang around Greenwich Village.

"Television has done that, I guess," the actor remarked. "That crowd used to stay in New York because that's where the work was. But with television out here now, they can find enough to keep them busy."

Homolka can attest to the fact that TV has helped the actor, since he's here to do a couple of Matinee Theater shows on NBC—an Ibsen and a Tennessee Williams.

Hollywood, he sighed, looks just a little shabby after a 10-year absence. But lest the Chamber of Commerce get too indignant, he added: "When I have breakfast by the swimming pool at my hotel these mornings, I realize that it can also be a pretty nice place, too."

Army Engineers Plan Consolidation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consolidation of inventory control and accounting of Army engineer supplies at St. Louis instead of at seven different depots, was announced here this week.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) said Maj. Gen. E. C. Itschner chief of engineers, told him the change to increase efficiency would be put into effect gradually over a period from April 1 to Oct 1.

He said the Army reported that approximately 300 civilian employes at the various depots will be given an opportunity to transfer to St. Louis.

Affected depots, Symington said, include the Marion Engineer Depot, Marion, Ohio, April 1.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Some women make me sick! Take your correspondent of Jan. 16, for example—the lonely widow, with children grown and gone, who lives in the village outskirts and wants some kind of friendship, if possible." Does she expect people to run after her, while she does nothing?

I know lots of women in my own Canadian countryside, who live a half-mile from neighbors, yet they have friends. They join the Ladies' Aid, the missionary societies and the card parties at church; and they work for the bake sales; and are so much loved that they haven't time to feel sorry for themselves. (They also keep candies and cookies for youngsters.)

I too am alone; and, what's worse, an old maid, age 75, lame in the leg, weak in the eyesight. But I am not exactly lonely. I live in a top floor back room, which I have made very pleasant, with flowers, pictures, a divan bed, etc.

When I was left alone two years ago I sold our home and came to this city, where I joined the Church Guild and sewing circle and last week went to the annual luncheon. I joined the swimming class at the YWCA but found it too strenuous and changed to painting. (My English sister-in-law is organizing a painting class in Wales, and members come from miles around.)

I have hired a typewriter (can't afford to buy one) and am learning to type in case my eyes fail. I don't ask strangers to pity me and become pen-pals, but I do spend about $2 a month on postage, to all my old friends. I always say: "This letter doesn't need an answer; but I just thought we could have a little get-together whilst you drink a cup of tea"—and often I enclose a tea bag.

My neighbor downstairs, a gentleman of 80, just came up to inquire if I am warm enough (the weather is below zero tonight)

My beloved father taught me: "If you want to have friends, you must show yourself friendly." When I think of how many of God's children there are in the world—they are all my brothers and sisters, of course—I am so happy that the days aren't long enough for me.

For goodness sake tell this widow to cheer up. Or if I could have her address I would write her myself. "More power to yer elbow!" No, I wouldn't bully her; but I might cheer her up a bit.

P. B.

DEAR P. B.: Your attitude is wonderful, and a challenge to all of us to "wake up and live" more fully. You have a brilliant spirit, overflowing with youthful interest in everything.

There is no doubt that a friendly exchange with you would do the isolated widow a world of good. But sorry to say, I can't put you in touch with each other.

For reasons of discretion, it always has been the policy of this column to protect the anonymity of all correspondents, and to refrain from bringing "unknowns" together. While there are times—as in this instance—when an exception might seem well warranted, nevertheless, since the rule is established, we feel duty-bound to observe it impartially.

However, I can't resist publishing your comment, because of its vigor and dash—which shows that personal vitality (or "git-up-and-git," as our ancestors called it) is fueled more by will and intelligence than by one's circumstances or degree of physical fitness.

Here's hoping the widow snaps into action, spurred by your lecture, and finds fellowship work to do, with neighborhood groups such as you have suggested. And I thank you very much for your heartful of love for all God's children.

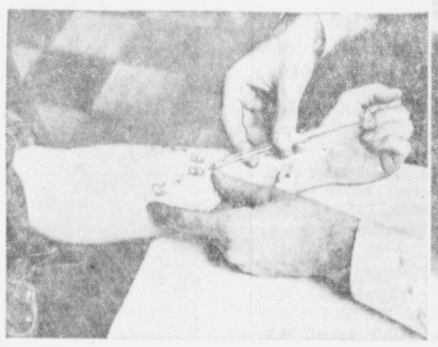
CANCER CELLS INJECTED INTO 53 OHIO PEN CONS



First volunteer gets it in "RABBIT" tattoo.

One gets injection, others wait their turn.

Guard frisks convict returning to cell after injection. Dr. Southam holds beaker of virus.

NEWSMEN being permitted to watch, for the first time, research in which 53 convict volunteers were injected with live cancer virus produces these photos from Ohio State penitentiary, Columbus. Heading the experiment is Dr. Chester M. Southam of New York's Sloan-Kettering institute. Dr. Southam said seven types of cancer cells taken from cancer patients were used, and the prisoners got from one million to five million cells per implant. Some got a second implant. Dr. Southam said it is known that live cancer cells implanted in a cancer patient will grow, but it is believed a cancer-free body is able to fight off such an "invasion." The unnamed 53 inmates volunteered to help demonstrate this. Medical News photos. (International)

Britain Says New Suez Pact Readied

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today a majority of countries using the Suez Canal have agreed on an "interim" plan for operating the waterway from the time it is cleared until a full international agreement is drawn up.

The plan will soon be placed before U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold for presentation to Egypt, the Foreign Office said.

The United States joined a large number of other nations in preparing the agreement. The Soviet Union was not included.

There has been no advance indication Egypt would accept the secret proposals.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Some women make me sick! Take your correspondent of Jan. 16, for example—the lonely widow, with children grown and gone, who lives in the village outskirts and wants some kind of friendship, if possible." Does she expect people to run after her, while she does nothing?

I know lots of women in my own Canadian countryside, who live a half-mile from neighbors, yet they have friends. They join the Ladies' Aid, the missionary societies and the card parties at church; and they work for the bake sales; and are so much loved that they haven't time to feel sorry for themselves. (They also keep candies and cookies for youngsters.)

I too am alone; and, what's worse, an old maid, age 75, lame in the leg, weak in the eyesight. But I am not exactly lonely. I live in a top floor back room, which I have made very pleasant, with flowers, pictures, a divan bed, etc.

When I was left alone two years ago I sold our home and came to this city, where I joined the Church Guild and sewing circle and last week went to the annual luncheon. I joined the swimming class at the YWCA but found it too strenuous and changed to painting. (My English sister-in-law is organizing a painting class in Wales, and members come from miles around.)

I have hired a typewriter (can't afford to buy one) and am learning to type in case my eyes fail. I don't ask strangers to pity me and become pen-pals, but I do spend about $2 a month on postage, to all my old friends. I always say: "This letter doesn't need an answer; but I just thought we could have a little get-together whilst you drink a cup of tea"—and often I enclose a tea bag.

My neighbor downstairs, a gentleman of 80, just came up to inquire if I am warm enough (the weather is below zero tonight)

My beloved father taught me: "If you want to have friends, you must show yourself friendly." When I think of how many of God's children there are in the world—they are all my brothers and sisters, of course—I am so happy that the days aren't long enough for me.

For goodness sake tell this widow to cheer up. Or if I could have her address I would write her myself. "More power to yer elbow!" No, I wouldn't bully her; but I might cheer her up a bit.

P. B.

DEAR P. B.: Your attitude is wonderful, and a challenge to all of us to "wake up and live" more fully. You have a brilliant spirit, overflowing with youthful interest in everything.

There is no doubt that a friendly exchange with you would do the isolated widow a world of good. But sorry to say, I can't put you in touch with each other.

For reasons of discretion, it always has been the policy of this column to protect the anonymity of all correspondents, and to refrain from bringing "unknowns" together. While there are times—as in this instance—when an exception might seem well warranted, nevertheless, since the rule is established, we feel duty-bound to observe it impartially.

However, I can't resist publishing your comment, because of its vigor and dash—which shows that personal vitality (or "git-up-and-git," as our ancestors called it) is fueled more by will and intelligence than by one's circumstances or degree of physical fitness.

Here's hoping the widow snaps into action, spurred by your lecture, and finds fellowship work to do, with neighborhood groups such as you have suggested. And I thank you very much for your heartful of love for all God's children.

CANCER CELLS INJECTED INTO 53 OHIO PEN CONS

Guard frisks convict returning to cell after injection.

Dr. Southam holds beaker of virus.

NEWSMEN being permitted to watch, for the first time, research in which 53 convict volunteers were injected with live cancer virus produces these photos from Ohio State penitentiary, Columbus. Heading the experiment is Dr. Chester M. Southam of New York's Sloan-Kettering institute. Dr. Southam said seven types of cancer cells taken from cancer patients were used, and the prisoners got from one million to five million cells per implant. Some got a second implant. Dr. Southam said it is known that live cancer cells implanted in a cancer patient will grow, but it is believed a cancer-free body is able to fight off such an "invasion." Britain Says New Suez Pact Readied

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today a majority of countries using the Suez Canal have agreed on an "interim" plan for operating the waterway from the time it is cleared until a full international agreement is drawn up.

The plan will soon be placed before U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold for presentation to Egypt, the Foreign Office said.

The United States joined a large number of other nations in preparing the agreement. The Soviet Union was not included.

There has been no advance indication Egypt would accept the secret proposals.

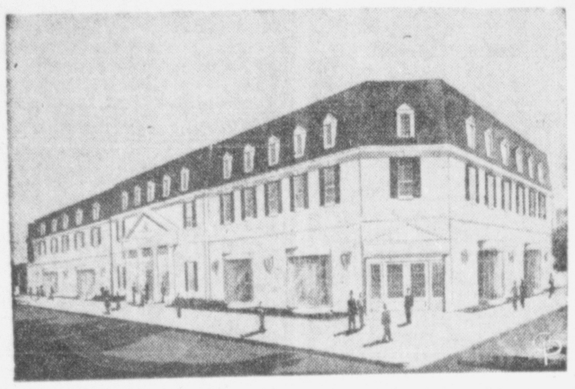
Travel Center To Aid Visitors to Washington



Here's how Washington's travel center will look.

By H. D. CRAWFORD
By Central Press Ass'n.

WASHINGTON — Visitors to the national capital, who have increased annually from two million in 1936 to nearly five million in 1956, are expected in another year to encounter a new type of hospitality in the form of a visitors center and the first national travel center.

Travelers by plane, train, car or bus will find for the first time under one roof an orientation theater, restaurant, sightseeing, information and interpreting services, interesting travel exhibits, and selected shops catering to travelers.

The orientation theater, free to travelers, will be the main objective: to orient visitors to modern Washington and link the present with highlights of its historic pas, according to Reginald Martine Jr., director of the visitors center.

"The national travel center will be a waiting room for the orientation theater," Martin said while discussing this project with members of the newly - formed American Travel Writers Assn. "This will make a visit to the national capital a more meaningful experience."

VISITORS centers have proved their great value in such tourist areas as Williamsburg, Va., Boulder Dam, and various national parks. The idea of a national travel center, Martin said, is new.

The visitors center at Washington, situated about half way between the White House and United States Capitol, is scheduled to be in operation early in 1598. Costing about $3 million, it will be constructed in Georgian architecture characteristic of Eighteenth Century Washington. Operating costs are estimated at $400,000 a year.

WASHINGTON is one of the world's most cosmopolitan cities, being the site of more than 70 foreign embassies and legations. The Organization of American States, composed of the 21 American republics, maintains its headquarters here. Numerous national associations have chosen Washington for their national headquarters.

Ever since the United States government moved to Washington in 1800, this city has attracted travelers from over this nation and from abroad. Twenty years ago an elaborate study was made of Washington, and this conclusion about its tourist appeal is probably even more true today:

"Probably no other city in the world is kept so prominently and continually in the public eye and the public mind.

"As a result, most literate inhabitants of the United States are scarcely less familiar with Washington, its politics, personalities, public buildings, etc., than they are with their own communities; and sooner or later they all come to clasp the tangible city in affectionate embrace."

* * *

"THEY ARE thoroughly at home here in the historic and political atmosphere which they have breathed vicariously since childhood, and amid surroundings which they have pictured countless times," the report continued.

"Sightseeing is the capital's chief industry — indeed, its only large-scale industry, if politics be excluded from such a category."

Since those words were written two decades ago, visitors to Washington have increased from two million to five million a year. Better highways, faster airplanes, and a rapidly - increasing population cause travel experts to anticipate a steady increase in tourists.

Visual and vocal equipment of latest types will be used for the orientation, information, and comfort of visitors at the new center. No ticket selling will be permitted at the travel exhibits. Plaza shops will feature craft and gift items, travel necessities, and Washington reproductions.

Charter and sightseeing buses will arrive and depart in a landscaped court behind the new visitors center. Adjacent parking areas will accommodate other buses and private automobiles.

Solon Warning Oil Industry

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Sen Flanders (R-Vt) warns that the American oil industry will be taken over by the government as a public utility if oil companies "continue to take advantage of a foreign situation when their stocks are high and their production capable of great expansion."

Sen. Flanders said "oil companies have raised the price of oil and its products to American customers. On the basis of free enterprise, of which I am an ardent supporter, it can be argued that they can and may charge all that the market will bear.

"If they continue to take advantage of a foreign situation when their stocks are high and their production capable of great expansion, they may look for legislation in the near future in which prices will be determined by the government instead of competitively."

Fairbanks Jr. Not Just Actor

Motion Picture Idol Has Many Interests

By LEWIS CRANSTON

LONDON, England — Making one of his periodic visits to the United States is Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., film star, television film producer, diplomat and businessman.

Although an American, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is as close to being an "Englishman" as you can get.

His home, a tall, aristocratic white house in the Boltons, Kensington (one of London's most fashionable districts), is an English house from its oak paneled walls to its period furniture.

Sitting facing him in his comfortably furnished study with its deep red leather armchairs and footrests, lush carpet, bookcases and imposing desk you easily can become over-awed. But not for long.

"I HEAR that you are a man of many parts," I asked Doug on a visit to his home just before his departure for the U. S. "Is it true?"

"I'm afraid so," he smiled. "As well as being in television I'm also in commerce, something very few know about, and I have my own export - import business."

"What sort of things do you handle?" I asked.

"Oh, anything from popcorn to automobiles. I'm a business consultant," he explained. "I have been in this type of business since 1932. I was then 22. I'm what they call a 'trouble - shooter' in the States. When things don't go well in a company I come in and try to help put things right."

He refused to go into detail about his war service and diplomatic work — but how many of you know that he has seven medals besides 15 orders and decorations, presentations from 10 other countries including the United States?

Discussing television, he divulged something of his plans. He intends making another three television series and some feature films, one of which will be a historical epic.

One of the television series probably will be about the adventures of Bulidog Drummond. A cautious man, he said, "Nothing is definite. I don't believe anything until the ink is dry on the paper."

Will Fairbanks take part himself in any of the films? "I don't think so," he said. "I don't enjoy acting. Funny enough, neither did my father. He did it because it was one way of earning a comfortable living. My reason's pretty much the same."

* * *

SEEING the many signed photographs around the room of such eminent people as President Eisenhower, ex - President Truman, Sir Winston Churchill and the British royal family, I naturally asked about those lavish banquets held at his home.

"Just part of a legend that's grown up," he said. "We've had some pretty important people to dinner here but — well — you couldn't call them banquets. The house just isn't big enough."

Doug invited me to look at some famous American prints and a portrait by Raeburn of which his wife Mary Lee is very fond.

We shared a taxi part of the way to his office. Fairbanks told me about his daughters, Daphne, 17, now at a finishing school in Paris; Victoria, 15, and Melissa, who is 10.

As the taxi pulled up for me I asked if his daughters intended going into show business. "No," he replied firmly. "There's no security in show business."

As we shook hands before parting I asked if this, then, was the end of the Fairbanks saga. He looked at me quizzically and shrugged his shoulders.

Ohio Dems File Query on Tire Buying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio House Democrats today asked the new state highway chief to answer a half dozen questions about state rejection of bids for the purchase of tires.

The Democratic Watchdog Committee sent the questions to Charles M. Noble, Gov. C. William O'Neill's secretary in charge of highways.

Committee Chairman Frank M. Gorman (D - Cuyahoga), said members wanted to find out why the department threw out all bids, including the lowest by Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. of Findlay.

Gorman said Cooper's bid would have saved the state $45,000.

The committee asked Noble to attend another meeting next Tuesday and answer these questions:

1. Were specifications or lack of specifications the reason for the rejection of the Cooper tires?
2. If so, what specification or the lack of what specification?
3. Was there any previous experience or information at your disposal indicating that the Cooper tire might be inferior?
4. If none of the foregoing questions is answered in the affirmative, what motivated the change of specifications?
5. Would the Cooper tire meet the new specifications?
6. If the answer is, "I don't know," did the department attempt to discover whether or not Cooper tire would meet these specifications before rejecting the bid?

Gorman said Cooper's bid would have saved the state $45,000.

The committee asked Noble to attend another meeting next Tuesday and answer these questions:

1. Were specifications or lack of specifications the reason for the rejection of the Cooper tires?
2. If so, what specification or the lack of what specification?
3. Was there any previous experience or information at your disposal indicating that the Cooper tire might be inferior?
4. If none of the foregoing questions is answered in the affirmative, what motivated the change of specifications?
5. Would the Cooper tire meet the new specifications?
6. If the answer is, "I don't know," did the department attempt to discover whether or not Cooper tire would meet these specifications before rejecting the bid?

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sculptor Joseph Dubronyi declines to be pinned down to a comparison of the figures of shapely Anita Ekberg, Jayne Mansfield and Ava Gardner, whose curves he has built into statues.

"I don't think any of them has a perfect body—they're not like Venus," the Hungarian-born Cuban said in an interview.

Miss Moore said the appointment puts Welk at the head of an army of more than a million volunteers who will be collecting funds all over the country between 1 and 3 p. m. next Sunday.

The film, "Great Day in the Morning," will be presented by the theatre with part of the profits going to the fund. Tickets were sold on the streets of Washington C. H. last Saturday and will be sold next Saturday by members of the high school Y-Teen group.

Army Now Seeking End to K9 Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The same Army officials who tried unsuccessfully to motorize military funerals have now decided to try to dispose of the Army's dogs.

The Army mule and the Army carrier pigeon already have been abandoned in the modernization.

The need for economy is being given as the reason for demobilizing the Army's 950 dogs, now doing scout and sentry duty.

The Air Force says it is cheaper and more effective to use dogs in patrolling key air bases and bomb dumps. Some army officials say the Army has little use for dogs in peacetime, and suggest the Air Force can train its own.

More than 4,000 seagoing ships, with gross registry of 20 million tons, were lost in World War 2.

10 Cadets Linked to Cincy Fire

CINCINNATI (AP) — A juvenile court officer said today a 16-year-old cadet has admitted he and nine other boys planned to set fire to an Ohio Military institute dormitory and that one of the group finally started the blaze early last Saturday after the others "chickened out."

The 10 youths ran away from the school Monday. Three of them returned to the school within a short time but the other seven still have not returned

School officials said parents have found five of the boys at Loudonville, one at Cleveland and one at Akron.

The juvenile court officer said the 16-year-old lad's story of the fire has been confirmed by other cadets and disproves a previous statement by 15-year-old boy that he started the fire.

The blaze caused only about $300 damage but routed 50 cadets from their beds.

The reason for starting the fire was not disclosed and Lt. Col. Donald D. Davis, superintendent of the school, said an investigation would be made to learn "what's troubling the boys."

Monday Mrs. T. R. Gormley said she picked up several of the runaway boys in her car and that they told her the cadet who originally admitted starting the blaze had nothing to do with it.

She said they told her the boy "had a saber at his ribs when he promised to confess."

No Pass Needed In Los Alamos now

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. (AP) — For the first time in a little more than 14 years you can get in and out of Los Alamos without a pass.

The security restrictions were clamped on when Los Alamos was picked as a site for the development of the atomic bomb. They were lifted Monday.

The Atomic Energy Commission said there was no relaxation of security safeguards at its Los Alamos laboratories but it will save nearly $100,000 a year in policing costs by making the town itself an open city again.

Episcopal School Adds Negro Tutor

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—The rector of St. Paul's Episcopal boys school says "everyone is quite pleased" at the appointment of the school's first Negro instructor.

"We are not concerned with his color and everyone is quite pleased that he is joining the staff," said the Rev. Matthew V. Warren.

The new master, the Rev. John T. Walker, 31, presently rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Detroit, will take over his new duties in the history department of the century-old private school next September.

New Salvos Fired In Naval Engagement

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The old side-wheeler steamboat on the seal of the city of St. Louis is under fire.

Trying to sink her is David M. Grant, member of a board elected to revise the city charter. He called the steamboat an "archaic and outmoded" symbol.

But editor Donald T. Wright of The Waterways Journal thinks the old river boat should be retained as "A reminder of our proud heritage."

The charter revision board named a special committee to look into the matter.

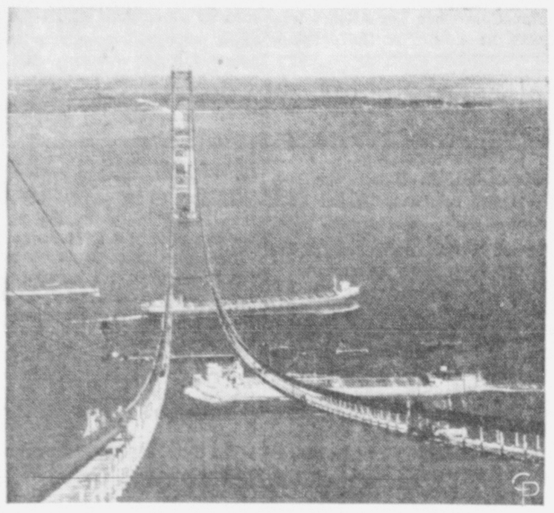
'Bridge to Holidayland' Being Built over Lake



Great Lakes freighters glide past each other as they pass beneath the Mackinac bridge catwalks.

By LEE HANCOCK
Central Press Assn.

MACKINAW CITY, Mich — The state of Michigan, as every sportsman knows is cut squarely in two by one of the Great Lakes. At its widest point, the waters of Lake Michigan separate the upper and lower peninsulas of the state by some 40 miles. At the northern end of Lake Michigan, where the Straits of Mackinaw join it to Lake Huron, a pin point of water on the map, barely five miles, separates Mackinaw City from St. Ignace.

Those five miles of water, however, through the years have provided many a sportsman with a lesson in frustration. St. Ignace is the gateway to a sportsman's paradise.

In season, the line of automobiles waiting to be ferried across the straits often has stretched for 20 miles.

Starting in November, 1957, the lines of waiting cars will be a memory to the sportsmen. The straits will be spanned by the world's longest suspension bridge, capable of handling 6,000 cars per hour.

To those persons who challenge this claim by pointing to the Golden Gate bridge in San Francisco, which crosses a wider channel, the Mackinac Bridge authority has an answer.

THE GOLDEN GATE bridge really is two bridges, both connected at Yerba Buena island. Mackinac has no island to divide it, and therefore can lay claim to being "champion" of suspension bridges

It is for reasons other than size, however, that the building of the Mackinac bridge is much more than a local affair. Engineers the world over are watching its construction with interest. For the straits pose a number of serious problems.

The channel is deep, the current swift, and in winter the ice floes pile high. Because of these things the Straits of Mackinac were studied by experienced bridge builders for a long time prior to the actual start of construction.

The bridge towers rise 552 feet above water level and each one contains 6,500 tons of steel. Their supporting piers extend more than 200 feet below water to solid rock.

The erection of the bridge's catwalks, or temporary foot bridges, was an eyestopping affair which attracted an unprecedented number of sidewalks superintendents, both on the shores of Michigan and on the ferries which still ply the straits.

TO GET the catwalks up, the bridge builders unreeled the sections of rope, from which the catwalks are made, into the water from a barge, pulled them up into to the air with guy derricks stationed on each tower.

Those catwalks were put there to provide a working point from which the bridge builders could spin the suspension cables. In a suspension bridge like the Mackinac, cables are hung over towers and fastened at their ends to concrete anchorages.

Steel wire ropes then are hung from the cables to support the floor of the bridge. The bridge, therefore, gets little support from the piers except indirectly. It really hangs from the cables.

Since the Mackinac bridge cables will be more than two feet thick and must be raised roughly 552 feet above water level, it is simpler to have the workmen make the cables on the catwalk, rather than attempt to do the job on the ground and hoist them to the top of the towers.

Already the Mackinac bridge has been named the "Bridge to Holidayland" and vacationers and sportsmen who make an annual pilgrimage to northern Michigan are eager for its completion.

Britain Forms Own Missile Regiment

LONDON (AP) — Britain has announced the formation of its first guided weapons regiment. A War Office spokesman said the outfit will be made up of officers and men trained by America.

This is the latest step in streamlining Britain's armed forces to fit the nuclear age.

The Defense Ministry also disclosed that it is studying the possibility of slashing its forces throughout the world.

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

This happened Tuesday, right here in Washington C. H. A vehicle pulled up in front of the First National Bank and five men, heavily armed, leaped from the vehicle, leaving a man at the wheel and one in the vehicle, and four of them walked rapidly into the bank.

One of them carried a repeating rifle, and one carried a drawn pistol, ready for instant use.

But no one outside paid much attention to the armed men, and inside the bank there was no commotion, except one employe hurriedly opened the gates leading into the main vault, and two of the men walked in without hesitation.

However the bank employe who assisted the two men into the vault where large sums of money are kept, was not helping in a bank robbery, for the two men carried heavy bags of silver coin on their shoulders and left the money in the vault.

You probably have guessed by this time that the heavily armed were in uniform and part of the crew of five to eight Brinks men, in an armored car, who make periodic visits to the First National Bank, which is a member of the Federal Reserve Bank, and the Federal Reserve Bank employs Brinks, Inc. to handle all of their money, entering or leaving the bank.

When the two men left the bank they carried two large pouches of currency, probably reaching tens of thousands of dollars.

Before they left the bank, one of the guards with the repeating rifle, and one with a pistol, stepped outside the bank, their weapons ready for instant use, and covered the two men until the money was safely placed in the armored car, and three of the guards climbed inside, closed the heavy steel doors, and the other two guards took their seats in front. A moment later the armored car, which invariably carries huge sums of money, had headed up street and soon vanished.

It is the method used in bringing in and taking away money, as the case may be, and has taken the place of the old method of shipping currency by registered mail and coin by express, with guards necessary until the money was safely consigned to the Post Office, or Express Co. Office.

All of the Brinks guards are carefully trained for any emergency, and all are expert marksmen, so that huge sums of money and other valuables consigned to their care regarded are very safe.

DITCH STILL WORKS

In this column Tuesday I carried an article about "brush ditches", and how Ottice Stookey helped build one on his father's farm on the White Road a half century ago.

The farm is now occupied by Marion Dawson, and Pete Stookey, who resides on an adjacent farm, said this week that the brush ditch built 50 years ago is still functioning, apparently just as well as when it was constructed. That is some record for a brush ditch.

30 YEARS AGO

Highlighting news 30 years ago this week was the trial of Leo Halterman, charged with the first degree murder of his half-brother Charles Halterman and wife, at their farm home at Blessing's Crossing in December, 1926. The jury visited the scene.

The state had rested its case and the defense was nearing end of the trial. Halterman endeavored to refute his confession, and the defense was that the killing of Charles Halterman was an accident.

Some 1,200 to 1,300 persons attended the annual Fish and Game Banquet held in the former Sales Pavilion at Sunlight Creameries.

Hugh Stewart Estate Duroc Hog sale resulted in representative of OSU buying several head for exhibiting in international show at Chicago.

Frank M Kennedy completed a new detailed map of the city.

Mrs. William J. Selsor died at age of 86 years.

Figures show that during 1926 there was over $500,000 worth of building in Washington C. H.

Ex-Governor Judson Harmon died in Cincinnati Hospital.

Mrs. Derelda Clifton, 86, died of burns sustained in gas explosion.

Highways blocked by huge drifts caused by heavy snow and strong winds.

Ten cars of coal derailed on B&O at Hains Crossing north of Bloomingburg.

WORKERS COMMUTE

There are hundreds of Fayette countians who reside on farms and work in Washington C. H. or elsewhere, or who live in Washington C. H. and the various towns in the county who commute to other areas where they are employed.

During the last war the number of commuters in the county was much greater than at present, but there are still large numbers who have lucrative jobs elsewhere besides in their home areas.

Many still are employed at Wright Field and others in Dayton, Columbus, Springfield, Chillicothe, and in fact various other places.

The daily mileage covered by these commuters would reach into the thousands, and apparently this driving to and from work in various places will continue indefinitely.

In many instances some of these commuters have night jobs which take them to and from their work at odd hours. Others find it necessary to leave their homes at very early hours so they will be on hands when the time to go to work arrives.

A surprisingly large number of persons employed in all phases of business in Washington C. H. come from the surrounding countryside.

Hospital Report

ing hospital services.

"No report could contain adequate praise for the loyal, devoted and capable services given to our patients by our 120 employes. Granted, many of these employes are never seen by a patient, but each contributes an essential part of his care and is essential to our operation. They represent many skills, from the boiler room to the bookkeeping department.

"In addition to the medical and hospital staff, the board of trustees has an exceptionally important part to play as directors of policy and purse - string holders. Its every decision has an impact on patients and their families.

"In January of 1956, bills were submitted for approval of payment. This represented equipment and property expense contracted for during 1955. Namely, $3,000 for partial payment on well; $1,392 for caulking, pointing and waterproofing of certain outside walls; $2,970 for building of oxygen storage dock; $3,207.50 for major operating table and light; and $841.79 for our share of state auditor's expense. It was not possible to pay these bills from the general operating account, therefore, $11,411.29 was transferred from the special account.

"After trial operation of the water system, it was apparent that adequate water pressure could not be retained to continue operation on this system. In February, the board was faced with the decision to invest even more money in the water system, namely, an underground water reservoir. This amounted to $3,775. The contract was awarded to G. M. Baker and Son, Inc., in March. You were faced with another important decision which called for a special meeting. This was an overall salary adjustment to our employes which amounted to 9 per cent increase. You knew this was an impossibility without raising rates for patient services, since it is our only source of income. You gave careful consideration to my recommendations for both.

"A special committee was appointed to study a long range air conditioning program. This was ably handled and in July 7½ - ton additional air conditioning unit was operating. The contract was awarded to Associated Plumbers for $4,529.14. An evaluation of the 5-ton unit in surgery was made and with little cost the efficiency was increased immeasureably. Again moneys were transferred from the special account to the general account to meet this contracted indebtedness.

"You authorized a contract to Huffman - Wolfe Co. to install a Roth turbine pump at a cost of $1,595. This recommendation was made by the boiler inspector to replace steam pump type. The steam operated pumps remain as standby equipment.

"Reverting to the water well and system, final bills were paid and you were advised that the system had been in operation since August. Total expense of well was $11,669.50.

"The need for rebuilding the present water softening equipment and system of boiler and return lines treatment was brought to your attention. Studies and proposals for this service remained under surveillance at the close of 1956.

"Another major decision for you to make was the write - off of $21,973.42 bad debts from accounts receivable. Your decision was made after every known method of collection was made, and with the advice of the prosecuting attorney, who had handled the accounts in collection efforts for some period of time.

"One could not close this report without mention of the many hours spent by each of you with a selected advisory committee to discuss the future plans for a needed expansion program. After several meetings and due consideration you accepted the recommendations of the advisory committee and were guided by their decision to postpone immediate plans in lieu of the general school program to be proposed at the fall election. The consensus of the advisory committee was that the hospital was in need of additional facilities.

"It would be timely to express our gratitude to the many donors who contributed to the hospital during 1956. In addition to $21,258.19, many gifts of variable nature were presented to the children's ward, tray favors for every holiday during the year, several hours of donated time was devoted to sewing by six groups of ladies.

"Whenever the request was made, special equipment was purchased with the money as specified by donors. For INSTANCE: direct writer cardiogram from the Lions Club; wheel chair from the Ladies of the Moose of Sabina; isolet from the Helen S. Ball estate; and additional dictating equipment from the Auxiliary to the medical staff.

"It would be untimely for me to finish this report without giving worthy praise to the press and radio station for the support and coverage of interesting hospital stories that we have enjoyed during 1956 as in the past."

Ohio House Schedules Vote On Purchase of 'Malabar'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio will take a long step today toward deciding the fate of famed Malabar Farm, home of the late conservationist and Pulitzer Prize-winning author, Louis Bromfield.

The House will vote on a resolution creating a committee to study the possibility of state purchase of the 640-acre farm. It is in Richland County.

The price tag on the farm, resurrected by Bromfield from eroded and depleted acreage, is $145,000. If the state buys the farm, it probably would be used as the site of a new state university.

The House also scheduled a vote on an emergency measure to permit the trustees of the state universities to buy sites near the campuses for dormitories and other university buildings.

The House approved Tuesday and sent to the Senate a pair of bills to improve the pensions for widows and orphans of police and firemen. Both passed unanimously.

One bill boosts pensions for widows of policemen and firemen from $60 to $75 a month. It increases pensions for orphans from $30 to $35 a month while removing the present $90 limit in that bracket. If the proposal becomes law, some 2,700 widows and 400 orphans probably would receive increases.

The other bill would base a fireman's pension on the five years of his greatest earnings. Now it is based on his earnings in the five years immediately preceding his retirement. Police now have the same pension formula as the bill for firemen proposes.

Introduction of 53 more bills Tuesday increased the number of proposed laws this session to 577 with exactly two weeks left before the deadline. The total two years ago was above 1,300, but it is possible that number still may be exceeded this session. Bills offered Tuesday included proposals to:

Transfer the control of the criminal identification bureau from the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction to the attorney general.

Require a vote of the people of the political subdivision involved before an income tax could be levied.

Tax juke boxes $50 a year to raise funds for retarded children.

Cut from five to two years the state's power to assess and collect back taxes.

Limit a person, firm or corporation to two over-the-bar liquor permits.

Require pawnbrokers to keep thumbprint records of pledgers and sellers.

Permit the state highway director to hire outside help for the actual buying of highway rights-of-way. This is a bill sponsored by the administration of Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Require bread wrappers to carry the date of baking.

Limit the tax commissioner's power to correct tax returns to two years. (A half-dozen bills cover various taxes.)

Establish uniform markings of all traffic lights in Ohio after Jan. 1, 1958, requiring words "stop" on red lights; "go" on green and "caution" on amber.

Permit the superintendent of each state mental hospital to appoint an advisory council.

Require the posting of a bond when application is made for a reassessment under the axle-mile tax.

Permit a candidate seeking a recount to wait until the recount starts to designate the precincts to be recounted.

Permit a six-month driver license for an epileptic.

Second Slaying Count Filed Against Man

ZANESVILLE (AP)—Stark County authorities say a recommendation from Prosecutor Joseph McNerney of Muskingum County led them to charge two Zanesville men with the murder Nov. 23 of two employes of a Uniontown grocery.

In jail are Dale Bundy, 39, and Russell McCoy, 22. McCoy is already charged with the Feb. 9 murder of his half-sister Louise See, 46, and her husband, Lloyd, 39.

Bundy and McCoy are accused of shooting to death Reynold P. Amodio, 30, manager of the County Line Market in Uniontown, and Paul E. Cain, 35, a clerk.

Norman J. Putman, Stark County prosecutor, declined to reveal any information in the case. He has said he will withhold all details leading up to Bundy's arrest until "the day of the trial."

Canton police records show Bundy was arrested in Stark County for armed robbery in 1940. He was released, broke parole, went back to prison in 1949, and finally was let out in January, 1950. He has a long record of misdemeanors, police said.

A Muskingum County grand jury will go into special session Tuesday to consider separate charges against McCoy in the Sees' slaying.

According to U. S. Census Reports, 2½ million children in the United States belong to families who earn less than $10 a week.

Ohio Firms Linked To Atomic Project

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.; Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Power Co., Dayton Power & Light Co., and Ohio Edison Co. are among the 11 firms slated to join the Louisville Gas & Electric Co. in constructing a plant to produce electric power from atomic energy. An official of the Louisville firm said no location has been selected yet.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

This happened Tuesday, right here in Washington C. H. A vehicle pulled up in front of the First National Bank and five men, heavily armed, leaped from the vehicle, leaving a man at the wheel and one in the vehicle, and four of them walked rapidly into the bank.

One of them carried a repeating rifle, and one carried a drawn pistol, ready for instant use.

But no one outside paid much attention to the armed men, and inside the bank there was no commotion, except one employe hurriedly opened the gates leading into the main vault, and two of the men walked in without hesitation.

However the bank employe who assisted the two men into the vault where large sums of money are kept, was not helping in a bank robbery, for the two men carried heavy bags of silver coin on their shoulders and left the money in the vault.

You probably have guessed by this time that the heavily armed were in uniform and part of the crew of five to eight Brinks men, in an armored car, who make periodic visits to the First National Bank, which is a member of the Federal Reserve Bank, and the Federal Reserve Bank employs Brinks, Inc. to handle all of their money, entering or leaving the bank.

When the two men left the bank they carried two large pouches of currency, probably reaching tens of thousands of dollars.

Before they left the bank, one of the guards with the repeating rifle, and one with a pistol, stepped outside the bank, their weapons ready for instant use, and covered the two men until the money was safely placed in the armored car, and three of the guards climbed inside, closed the heavy steel doors, and the other two guards took their seats in front. A moment later the armored car, which invariably carries huge sums of money, had headed up street and soon vanished.

It is the method used in bringing in and taking away money, as the case may be, and has taken the place of the old method of shipping currency by registered mail and coin by express, with guards necessary until the money was safely consigned to the Post Office, or Express Co. Office.

All of the Brinks guards are carefully trained for any emergency, and all are expert marksmen, so that huge sums of money and other valuables consigned to their care regarded are very safe.

DITCH STILL WORKS

In this column Tuesday I carried an article about "brush ditches", and how Ottice Stookey helped build one on his father's farm on the White Road a half century ago.

The farm is now occupied by Marion Dawson, and Pete Stookey, who resides on an adjacent farm, said this week that the brush ditch built 50 years ago is still functioning, apparently just as well as when it was constructed. That is some record for a brush ditch.

30 YEARS AGO

Highlighting news 30 years ago this week was the trial of Leo Halterman, charged with the first degree murder of his half-brother Charles Halterman and wife, at their farm home at Blessing's Crossing in December, 1926. The jury visited the scene.

The state had rested its case and the defense was nearing end of the trial. Halterman endeavored to refute his confession, and the defense was that the killing of Charles Halterman was an accident.

Some 1,200 to 1,300 persons attended the annual Fish and Game Banquet held in the former Sales Pavilion at Sunlight Creameries.

Hugh Stewart Estate Duroc Hog sale resulted in representative of OSU buying several head for exhibiting in international show at Chicago.

Frank M Kennedy completed a new detailed map of the city.

Mrs. William J. Selsor died at age of 86 years.

Figures show that during 1926 there was over $500,000 worth of building in Washington C. H.

Ex-Governor Judson Harmon died in Cincinnati Hospital.

Mrs. Derelda Clifton, 86, died of burns sustained in gas explosion.

Highways blocked by huge drifts caused by heavy snow and strong winds.

Ten cars of coal derailed on B&O at Hains Crossing north of Bloomingburg.

WORKERS COMMUTE

There are hundreds of Fayette countians who reside on farms and work in Washington C. H. or elsewhere, or who live in Washington C. H. and the various towns in the county who commute to other areas where they are employed.

During the last war the number of commuters in the county was much greater than at present, but there are still large numbers who have lucrative jobs elsewhere besides in their home areas.

Many still are employed at Wright Field and others in Dayton, Columbus, Springfield, Chillicothe, and in fact various other places.

The daily mileage covered by these commuters would reach into the thousands, and apparently this driving to and from work in various places will continue indefinitely.

In many instances some of these commuters have night jobs which take them to and from their work at odd hours. Others find it necessary to leave their homes at very early hours so they will be on hands when the time to go to work arrives.

A surprisingly large number of persons employed in all phases of business in Washington C. H. come from the surrounding countryside.

Hospital Report

ing hospital services.

"No report could contain adequate praise for the loyal, devoted and capable services given to our patients by our 120 employes. Granted, many of these employes are never seen by a patient, but each contributes an essential part of his care and is essential to our operation. They represent many skills, from the boiler room to the bookkeeping department.

"In addition to the medical and hospital staff, the board of trustees has an exceptionally important part to play as directors of policy and purse - string holders. Its every decision has an impact on patients and their families.

"In January of 1956, bills were submitted for approval of payment. This represented equipment and property expense contracted for during 1955. Namely, $3,000 for partial payment on well; $1,392 for caulking, pointing and waterproofing of certain outside walls; $2,970 for building of oxygen storage dock; $3,207.50 for major operating table and light; and $841.79 for our share of state auditor's expense. It was not possible to pay these bills from the general operating account, therefore, $11,411.29 was transferred from the special account.

"After trial operation of the water system, it was apparent that adequate water pressure could not be retained to continue operation on this system. Lions Are Swamped By Hilliards Team

The Lions were at intermission, 36-35. Theier combinations just didn't click well enough during the second half, though, and the home team piled up 50 points to rack up a victory by a substantia' margin.

Dick English, fighting manfully for his luckless team, dropped through 24 points with eight baskets and eight free throws to meet the tally.

Larry Milstead, Lion center, scored 16 points.

PLAYING a fast and classy man-to-man press, the Lions showed polished technique during the first half. Though they trailed through the first quarter, a little familiarity with the alien court started producing results in the second frame.

But in the third quarter, somehow, the same combinations just didn't click. The Lions' aim was not what it should have been, and the Hilliards sharpshooters seemed able to crack every defense.

The game was already out of hand by the end of the third period, and Hilliards built up a wide margin in the fourth.

The reserves lost, too, 49-32. Larry Burnette scored 10 points, Ron Carter, nine, and Dave Korn, six, to try to forego the calamity.

Individual Scoring Crown Appears Hard To Chalk Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maybe the best way to win the individual scoring championship in major college basketball this season is to break a leg, the idea being to sit out the rest of the schedule content with present averages.

Every time the contenders take a crack at upping the ante, it seems they slip a bit.

Tuesday night, for instance, South Carolina's Grady Wallace scored only a so-so 27 points in an 85-77 victory over Furman which sliced .16 of a point off his nation-leading average. He's still top man with 30.41 for 22 games, but he was 30.57 in 21.

The night before, Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas had a chance for the lead, but skidded from second to fifth with only 11 points. Last Saturday, Columbia's Chet Forte missed the boat with only 19 and slipped from second to third.

That leaves Mississippi's Joe Gibbon and Seattle's Elgin Baylor as the only contenders to move up on their own of late.

At the moment, Forte is No. 2 with a 29.56 average going into tonight's game against Yale. Then comes Gibbon at 29.33, Baylor at 29.13 and Chamberlain at 29.00 in what Homer Cooke, head man of NCAA Statistics Bureau, terms the closest race in memory.

Not all "races" are races this season, however. Unbeaten and top-ranked North Carolina, for example, clinched first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings with its 21st victory, drubbing erstwhile champ North Carolina State 86-57.

West Virginia accomplished the same result in the Southern Conference, although idle Tuesday night. Virginia Tech killed Washington & Lee's chances 54-46.

Connecticut became the first entry in the NCAA's University Division tournament by pouring in 18 points in thelast three minutes to belt Massachusetts 90-77 for the Uconns' ninth Yankee Conference title in 10 years.

Elsewhere, sixth-ranked Southern Methodist, with Bobby Mills scoring 21 and Jim Krebs 20, whipped Texas A&M 71-55 to set up a showdown game with Rice for the Southwest Conference crown and NCAA berth Saturday night. Rice, the runner-up, stayed alive by defeating Arkansas 82-69.

Noble County Cage Tourney Delayed

CALDWELL (AP) — The Noble County basketball tournament was called off Tuesday as a precaution against the further spread of contagious meningitis.

Dr. N. S. Reed, Noble County health officer, said a high school girl came down with the illness last Wednesday.

He said the tournament can probably be resumed Thursday when the seven-day incubation period of the disease will have passed.

Elks Have Fun In Tournament

The team representing Washington C. H. lodge may not have won any prizes at last weekend's Elks bowling tournament at Middletown, but the five members of it had a lot of fun.

Just how they finished in the final standings is still uncertain, because they have not been notified yet by the tournament statistician. They are about certain they did not get anywhere near the top in the team event, but have hopes that some of them may have placed in the singles and doubles. Middletown's won the team event, and that's about all the Washington C. H. bowlers know.

The Washington C. H. team came up with a 2,825 total, including a 453 handicap. Members of the team and their scores are Eddie Caldwell 597, Abie Abel 533, Phil Douglass 589, Delbert Carr 565 and Paul Cummings 541.

In the doubles, Caldwell and Cummings tallied 1,129; Carr and Bob Helbrich (did not roll with team) 1,145 and Douglas and Abel 1,129.

In the singles, Caldwell made 680, Cummings 579, Carr 548, Helfrich 638, Douglass 550 and Abel 519.

Big Gate Expected For Basilio Bout

CLEVELAND (AP) — A gate of more than $100,000 is expected when Carmen Basilio defends his welterweight title against Johnny Saxton here Friday night, according to matchmaker Larry Atkins.

"That will be the biggest gate here since Max Schmeling and W. L. Stribling Jr., fought for the heavyweight championship before a $349,419 house at Municipal Stadium in 1931," Atkins said.

Friday's fight will be the first championship bout here since Sugar Ray Robinson kayoed the late Jimmy Doyle nine years ago.

11 Names Added to Grid Hall of Fam

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)— The relatively new National Football Hall of Fame had 110 former players and officials representing 57 colleges or its membership list today after the addition of eleven new names by its Honors Court.

Among the team-full of onetime gridiron talent announced by the selectors Tuesday is movie cowboy Johnny Mack Brown, who starred as a halfback in Alabama's 20-19 Rose Bowl victory over Washington in 1929.

Others added to the hall, located on the Rutgers University campus, were Ken Strong of New York University, George Pfann of Cornell, Erny Pinckert of Southern California, the late Marshall Newell of Harvard, the late Hunter Carpenter of Virginia Tech, Peter Mauthe of Penn State, Ira (Buck) Rodgers of West Virginia, William Corbus of Stanford, J. A. C. Weller of Princeton, and Dick Wildung of Minnesota.

Elections to the hall began in 1951 on the basis of voting by the organization's membership, recommendations by coaches athletic directors, fellow players and sports writers, and nominations to All-American teams. To be eligible, a player must have been graduated from his college for at least 10 years.

Yale currently tops the list with and Army four each, and Penn, California, and Chicago three Notre Dame, Alabama, Southern vard has six. Michigan, Minnesota apiece.

Big Scores, Tight Battles Color Ohio College Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big scores and tight games seemed to characterize Tuesday night's college basketball activity.

Two games in Tuesday night's crowded schedule had to go into overtime, and in two other games, a couple of quintets went over the 100-point mark in chalking up victories.

Denison's Ron Gearhart scored with 20 seconds remaining in the overtime period to lead the Big Red to a 78-77 Ohio Conference victory over the Kenyon Lords at Granville.

At Ada, with a scant two seconds remaining in the overtime period, Ohio Northern's Merrill Castle tossed in a field goal to give the Polar Bears a 79-78 win over Bluffton in a Mid - Ohio League game.

Hitting the big scores were Wooster College, with a 109-74 win over Washington & Jefferson at Wooster, and Defiance College, with a 107-71 triumph over the Wilberforce Bulldogs. It was the 25th straight home court win for the Yellow Jackets.

Playing at home, Kent State came from behind with less than three minutes to play to defeat Bowling Green 80-75 for its second Mid-American Conference victory of the season.

In three games played at Cleveland, Muskingum rolled to an easy 84-68 decision over Case Tech. Oberlin held on to a one-point lead to defeat Western Reserve 58-57, and St. Vincent (Pa.) defeated John Carroll 75-73.

At Ashland, Findlay College whipped Ashland College 80-72.

At Cedarville, Wilmington held off a late drive by Cedarville to gain an 84-68 victory in a Mid-Ohio League game, and at Detroit, Youngstown trounced Lawrence Tech 101-74.

Rosewell Trips Mighty Gonzales

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Australia's determined Ken Rosewall regained confidence the hard way Tuesday night in his first pro tennis victory in the United States over big Pancho Gonzales.

The 145-pound 1956 Davis Cup star outlasted the 6-foot-3 pro veteran for a marathon 6-3, 6-8, 18-16 victory that few of the 6,553 in the Cow Palace thought he would pull out.

Seven times Gonzales had his smaller opponent at match point in that third set, but just as many times the backhanding Aussie got out of it.

Lions Are Swamped By Hilliards Team

The Lions were at intermission, 36-35. Theier combinations just didn't click well enough during the second half, though, and the home team piled up 50 points to rack up a victory by a substantia' margin.

Dick English, fighting manfully for his luckless team, dropped through 24 points with eight baskets and eight free throws to meet the tally.

Larry Milstead, Lion center, scored 16 points.

PLAYING a fast and classy man-to-man press, the Lions showed polished technique during the first half. Though they trailed through the first quarter, a little familiarity with the alien court started producing results in the second frame.

But in the third quarter, somehow, the same combinations just didn't click. The Lions' aim was not what it should have been, and the Hilliards sharpshooters seemed able to crack every defense.

The game was already out of hand by the end of the third period, and Hilliards built up a wide margin in the fourth.

The reserves lost, too, 49-32. Larry Burnette scored 10 points, Ron Carter, nine, and Dave Korn, six, to try to forego the calamity.

Aussie Shining In Houston Open

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Peter Thomson, the pudgy Australian who has won the British Open Championship three straight years has moved in among the favorites on the eve of the Houston Open.

Rain and cold wind did not bother Thomson Tuesday as he played his first 18 holes since December and fired a five-under-par 66 to win $450 in top money in a $5,000 pro-amateur event preliminary to Thursday's opening of the richest tournament on the winter golf tour.

More rain was expected on the 7,200-yard course. A field of 160 players tees off today seeking the 72-hole tournament's $7,500 first prize.

Fullmer Bows Out Of Denver Match

DENVER (AP) — A cut over his left eye has forced middleweight champion Gene Fullmer to bow out of his scheduled 10-round bout here next Wednesday against Charley Cotton of Toledo.

Promoter Joe Dupler said veteran Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., will be substitute for the 160-pound titlist. The fight will be nationally televised.

Pastrano Set For Holman Duel

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fourth-ranked heavyweight Willie Pastrano pits his lightning fists and agility against the sledge-hammer punch of eighth-ranked Johnny Holman in a nationally - televised 10-round match tonight.

Pastrano, touting a 45-4-4 record, and reckoned for a title shot in a year or so, is installed as the 5-17 favorite. Holman, fighting to remain a longshot title contender, lists a 30-13-1 record but his wins came against worthier opponents and include 18 knockouts.

Hotrodder Dies In Cemetery Crash

NEW YORK (AP) — A stripped-down car, driven by two young hot rodders, smashed into a row of tombstones in a Bron xcemetary Tuesday. One boy was killed, the other critically injured.

Police said the two youths apparently were testing their contraption on a road in St. Raymond's Cemetery when it went out of control.

Found dead was 17-year-old James Navan of Sterling, Conn., believed to have been the driver. Critically injured was William Schroeder, also 17, of the Bronx.

Individual Scoring Crown Appears Hard To Chalk Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maybe the best way to win the individual scoring championship in major college basketball this season is to break a leg, the idea being to sit out the rest of the schedule content with present averages.

Every time the contenders take a crack at upping the ante, it seems they slip a bit.

Tuesday night, for instance, South Carolina's Grady Wallace scored only a so-so 27 points in an 85-77 victory over Furman which sliced .16 of a point off his nation-leading average. He's still top man with 30.41 for 22 games, but he was 30.57 in 21.

The night before, Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas had a chance for the lead, but skidded from second to fifth with only 11 points. Last Saturday, Columbia's Chet Forte missed the boat with only 19 and slipped from second to third.

That leaves Mississippi's Joe Gibbon and Seattle's Elgin Baylor as the only contenders to move up on their own of late.

At the moment, Forte is No. 2 with a 29.56 average going into tonight's game against Yale. Then comes Gibbon at 29.33, Baylor at 29.13 and Chamberlain at 29.00 in what Homer Cooke, head man of NCAA Statistics Bureau, terms the closest race in memory.

Not all "races" are races this season, however. Unbeaten and top-ranked North Carolina, for example, clinched first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings with its 21st victory, drubbing erstwhile champ North Carolina State 86-57.

West Virginia accomplished the same result in the Southern Conference, although idle Tuesday night. Virginia Tech killed Washington & Lee's chances 54-46.

Connecticut became the first entry in the NCAA's University Division tournament by pouring in 18 points in thelast three minutes to belt Massachusetts 90-77 for the Uconns' ninth Yankee Conference title in 10 years.

Elsewhere, sixth-ranked Southern Methodist, with Bobby Mills scoring 21 and Jim Krebs 20, whipped Texas A&M 71-55 to set up a showdown game with Rice for the Southwest Conference crown and NCAA berth Saturday night. Rice, the runner-up, stayed alive by defeating Arkansas 82-69.

Noble County Cage Tourney Delayed

CALDWELL (AP) — The Noble County basketball tournament was called off Tuesday as a precaution against the further spread of contagious meningitis.

Dr. N. S. Reed, Noble County health officer, said a high school girl came down with the illness last Wednesday.

He said the tournament can probably be resumed Thursday when the seven-day incubation period of the disease will have passed.

Elks Have Fun In Tournament

The team representing Washington C. H. lodge may not have won any prizes at last weekend's Elks bowling tournament at Middletown, but the five members of it had a lot of fun.

Just how they finished in the final standings is still uncertain, because they have not been notified yet by the tournament statistician. They are about certain they did not get anywhere near the top in the team event, but have hopes that some of them may have placed in the singles and doubles. Middletown's won the team event, and that's about all the Washington C. H. bowlers know.

The Washington C. H. team came up with a 2,825 total, including a 453 handicap. Members of the team and their scores are Eddie Caldwell 597, Abie Abel 533, Phil Douglass 589, Delbert Carr 565 and Paul Cummings 541.

In the doubles, Caldwell and Cummings tallied 1,129; Carr and Bob Helbrich (did not roll with team) 1,145 and Douglas and Abel 1,129.

In the singles, Caldwell made 680, Cummings 579, Carr 548, Helfrich 638, Douglass 550 and Abel 519.

Big Gate Expected For Basilio Bout

CLEVELAND (AP) — A gate of more than $100,000 is expected when Carmen Basilio defends his welterweight title against Johnny Saxton here Friday night, according to matchmaker Larry Atkins.

"That will be the biggest gate here since Max Schmeling and W. L. Stribling Jr., fought for the heavyweight championship before a $349,419 house at Municipal Stadium in 1931," Atkins said.

Friday's fight will be the first championship bout here since Sugar Ray Robinson kayoed the late Jimmy Doyle nine years ago.

11 Names Added to Grid Hall of Fam

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)— The relatively new National Football Hall of Fame had 110 former players and officials representing 57 colleges on its membership list today after the addition of eleven new names by its Honors Court.

Among the team-full of onetime gridiron talent announced by the selectors Tuesday is movie cowboy Johnny Mack Brown, who starred as a halfback in Alabama's 20-19 Rose Bowl victory over Washington in 1929.

Others added to the hall, located on the Rutgers University campus, were Ken Strong of New York University, George Pfann of Cornell, Erny Pinckert of Southern California, the late Marshall Newell of Harvard, the late Hunter Carpenter of Virginia Tech, Peter Mauthe of Penn State, Ira (Buck) Rodgers of West Virginia, William Corbus of Stanford, J. A. C. Weller of Princeton, and Dick Wildung of Minnesota.

Elections to the hall began in 1951 on the basis of voting by the organization's membership, recommendations by coaches, athletic directors, fellow players and sports writers, and nominations to All-American teams. To be eligible, a player must have been graduated from his college for at least 10 years.

Yale currently tops the list with and Army four each, and Penn, California, and Chicago three Notre Dame, Alabama, Southern vard has six. Michigan, Minnesota apiece.

MIGRANT DUCKS FLY INTO DEATH

FOR MIGRATORY BROADBILL DUCKS, lower New York Bay became a scene of mass death, when oil-polluted waters took a heavy toll of the wintering birds. Big Scores, Tight Battles Color Ohio College Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big scores and tight games seemed to characterize Tuesday night's college basketball activity.

Two games in Tuesday night's crowded schedule had to go into overtime, and in two other games, a couple of quintets went over the 100-point mark in chalking up victories.

Denison's Ron Gearhart scored with 20 seconds remaining in the overtime period to lead the Big Red to a 78-77 Ohio Conference victory over the Kenyon Lords at Granvill.

At Ada, with a scant two seconds remaining in the overtime period, Ohio Northern's Merrill Castle tossed in a field goal to give the Polar Bears a 79-78 win over Bluffton in a Mid - Ohio League game.

Hitting the big scores were Wooster College, with a 109-74 win over Washington & Jefferson at Wooster, and Defiance College, with a 107-71 triumph over the Wilberforce Bulldogs. It was the 25th straight home court win for the Yellow Jackets.

Playing at home, Kent State came from behind with less than three minutes to play to defeat Bowling Green 80-75 for its second Mid-American Conference victory of the season.

In three games played at Cleveland, Muskingum rolled to an easy 84-68 decision over Case Tech, Oberlin held on to a one-point lead to defeat Western Reserve 58-57, and St. Vincent (Pa.) defeated John Carroll 75-73.

At Ashland, Findlay College whipped Ashland College 80-72.

At Cedarville, Wilmington held off a late drive by Cedarville to gain an 84-68 victory in a Mid-Ohio League game, and at Detroit, Youngstown trounced Lawrence Tech 101-74.

Rosewell Trips Mighty Gonzales

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Australia's determined Ken Rosewall regained confidence the hard way Tuesday night in his first pro tennis victory in the United States over big Pancho Gonzales.

The 145-pound 1956 Davis Cup star outlasted the 6-foot-3 pro veteran for a marathon 6-3, 6-8, 18-16 victory that few of the 6,553 in the Cow Palace thought he would pull out.

Seven times Gonzales had his smaller opponent at match point in that third set, but just as many times the backhanding Aussie got out of it.

Tiger Cagers Beat Good Hope

to seal the victory for themselves.

Because of the defeat, Good Hope is now out of the double-elimination varsity tournament. Jeff and Bloomingburg are the only two teams remaining.

If the unbeaten Bulldogs can sink their teeth into the Tigers Thursday, the tournament varsity crown is theirs. But if the once-beaten Tigers win the game, a special championship game will have to be played Friday at 8 p. m.

"Sonny" Current led the scoring for Good Hope in a determined attempt to keep his team in the running. His 16 points weren't enough, however, to tumble the Tigers.

Alva Hanners, playing one of his best games, led Jeff's attack with 14 points. Roger Mason had 13 for the Tigers, while Si Sizemore and Roger Snyder each had 12.

MADISON MILLS' Warriors came from behind to win the reserve game Tuesday, just as Jeffersonville did in the varsity division. The Warriors topped the Jeff reserves, 45-38, after a razzle-dazzle scrap that was nobody's ball game until the very end.

The Jeff reserves got off to a fast start and ended the first period on the long end of a 9-6 score. But Madison Mills came through the second period with a little bit sharper shooting and ended the half out in front, 19-17.

The see - saw almost tipped again at the end of the third frame, but the Warriors were able to stay out in front — by one point. In the fourth quarter, they hacked away at the Jeff defense just hard enough to claim the slim victory.

Rockslide Blocks New York Thruway

ELMSFORD, N.Y. (AP)—An estimated 2,000 tons of rock cascaded on southbound lanes of the New York Thruway Tuesday.

Workmen had two lanes open within hours but William F. Bristow, a thruway division engineer, said it may take a week to clear all debris. Some of the boulders weigh 15 tons.

No one was injured.

The slide occurred in Westchester County midway between Elmsford and the Saw Mill River interchange.

Bristow said recent temperature changes affected water seams in the rock formation, "eventually loosening the rock."

Tiger Cagers Beat Good Hope

to seal the victory for themselves.

Because of the defeat, Good Hope is now out of the double-elimination varsity tournament. Jeff and Bloomingburg are the only two teams remaining.

If the unbeaten Bulldogs can sink their teeth into the Tigers Thursday, the tournament varsity crown is theirs. But if the once-beaten Tigers win the game, a special championship game will have to be played Friday at 8 p. m.

"Sonny" Current led the scoring for Good Hope in a determined attempt to keep his team in the running. His 16 points weren't enough, however, to tumble the Tigers.

Alva Hanners, playing one of his best games, led Jeff's attack with 14 points. Roger Mason had 13 for the Tigers, while Si Sizemore and Roger Snyder each had 12.

MADISON MILLS' Warriors came from behind to win the reserve game Tuesday, just as Jeffersonville did in the varsity division. The Warriors topped the Jeff reserves, 45-38, after a razzle-dazzle scrap that was nobody's ball game until the very end.

The Jeff reserves got off to a fast start and ended the first period on the long end of a 9-6 score. But Madison Mills came through the second period with a little bit sharper shooting and ended the half out in front, 19-17.

The see - saw almost tipped again at the end of the third frame, but the Warriors were able to stay out in front — by one point. In the fourth quarter, they hacked away at the Jeff defense just hard enough to claim the slim victory.

Rockslide Blocks New York Thruway

ELMSFORD, N.Y. (AP)—An estimated 2,000 tons of rock cascaded on southbound lanes of the New York Thruway Tuesday.

Workmen had two lanes open within hours but William F. Bristow, a thruway division engineer, said it may take a week to clear all debris. Some of the boulders weigh 15 tons.

No one was injured.

The slide occurred in Westchester County midway between Elmsford and the Saw Mill River interchange.

Bristow said recent temperature changes affected water seams in the rock formation, "eventually loosening the rock."

Wind Erosion Hits Wider U.S. Acreage

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports that 453,000 additional acres of land in the drought-plagued Great Plains were damaged by soil blowing in January. This brought the total damage this season to 3,193,000 acres compared with 1,032,000 to the same date last year.

A survey showed further, the agency said, that another 29,300,000 acres were in condition to blow as of Feb. 1 because of dry surface conditions, lack of cover and crop residues, and poor condition of growing wheat. This compares with 20,369,000 acres in condition to blow on the same date a year ago.

Wills Explained At BPW Meeting

Civilian Defense Movie also Shown

"Wills are no longer a mystery," Charles S. Hire told the Business and Professional Women's Club when he addressed the group following dinner at the Country Club Tuesday evening.

Developing his subject, "Wills and Codicils," Atty. Hire explained that a will basically provides for the disposition of property after death, guardianship of minor children and the administration of the estate.

"One should have the will where it is easy to locate," Atty. Hire told the group, pointing out that the will is as good as non-existent if it can't be found. A safety deposit box is good, he said, or the document may be left with the probate judge or a lawyer.

Anyone 21 years old and of sound mind and memory may make a will, he explained. It must be typed or handwritten, signed by a testator and witnessed by two competent witnesses, he said.

A wife or husband may not be disinherited under Ohio law, Atty. Hire said, but children may be.

A FILM on the Washington C. H. civil defense program was presented at the meeting by Stanley Graumlich and Glenn Harris. Mrs. P. Ben Hummel sang "The Music Adventures of Jack and Jill".

"Girls of the Month," from Washington C. H. High School, were Judy Preston, daughter of Mrs. Charles Crooks, and Sandra Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Eugene Cook. They were presented by Mrs. Jean King.

Soviet Appears Preparing For New Cold War Round

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Soviet rulers appear to be preparing for a full-scale renewal of the cold war on two fronts, in the Middle East to fight off a threat of growing American authority, and against President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin have drawn heavily once again from the old Stalinist arsenal of verbal weapons.

In their speeches at a Bulganin reception Tuesday night, the two Soviet leaders used such old familiar terms as "warmonger" and "insane international adventures" to describe U. S. leaders.

One can speculate from this that Bulganin and Khrushchev, while they retain their nominal leadership of the party and government, keep their positions by toleration of the rest of the collective leadership. In their statements there is a hint of desperation, indicating a possibility that the Soviet population is being prepared for some sort of showdown among the Kremlin leaders.

Along with the violent attacks on the United States, Bulganin and Khrushchev, and the Soviet press itself, have raised the old demand, so familiar in Stalin's time, for "vigilance" against internal and external enemies.

This cry was raised in the same way during the struggle for power in 1953 after Stalin's death. It preceded the arrest and execution of police boss L. P. Beria.

But while the Soviet Union's leaders struggle with their own internal political problems and with what appears to be a growing ferment among the yothful sector of the population, they appear to be throwing up breastworks against further Soviet propaganda losses in their satellite Communist empire and in the Middle East.

Moscow has indicated it blames Tito for much of its trouble in Hungary, Poland and the other satellites. Bulganin's words on th subject remind the observer of the heyday of Stalinism.

Bulganin called Imre Nagy, the Hungarian Communist who tried to go Tito's way, a "vile traitor" and puppet of the United States.

The other front in the full-scale renewal of the cold war is the Middle East. Bulganin warned it was in for a "hell of atomic and hydrogen war" if it listened to the United States. This indicates the Soviet leaders fear American policy may make some headway toward lessening Middle East tension.

Violence on the international front invariably denotes internal weakness in the Soviet Union. The Bulganin and Khrushchev statements seem to add up to nervousness, which is forcing a return to Stalinism so that the home front, in the U.S.S.R. and the satellite nations, may be held in check.

Tax Delinquency in County One of Lowest in Entire State

Fayette County has one of the lowest figures in all Ohio in real estate and public utility property tax delinquencies for years prior to 1956, it was revealed today in a report from the office of State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

A delinquency figure of $3,138.37 for Fayette County was far lower than that of any other county in this area, and not far above the record low of $1,046.88 recorded by Van Wert County.

Current delinquency figure in the county also was far below that of most Ohio counties. Mercer County was lowest in this bracket with $4,437.70, and Fayette County trailed close behind with only $5,342.52 outstanding.

Total real estate and public utility taxes collected in Fayette County last year amounted to $871,640. That is a part of the $441,265,368.27 collected throughout the state.

Clinton County collected $1,132,110.02, while Greene County got $2,449,081.73; Highland, $736,690.39; Madison, $928,912.70; Pickaway, $1,282,441.98; and Ross, $1,746,136.72.

Cuyahoga county showed the largest tax delinquency, $7,566,726.89 with Mahoning next at $2,360,729.87.

Wills Explained At BPW Meeting

Civilian Defense Movie also Shown

"Wills are no longer a mystery," Charles S. Hire told the Business and Professional Women's Club when he addressed the group following dinner at the Country Club Tuesday evening.

Developing his subject, "Wills and Codicils," Atty. Hire explained that a will basically provides for the disposition of property after death, guardianship of minor children and the administration of the estate.

"One should have the will where it is easy to locate," Atty. Hire told the group, pointing out that the will is as good as non-existent if it can't be found. A safety deposit box is good, he said, or the document may be left with the probate judge or a lawyer.

Anyone 21 years old and of sound mind and memory may make a will, he explained. It must be typed or handwritten, signed by a testator and witnessed by two competent witnesses, he said.

A wife or husband may not be disinherited under Ohio law, Atty. Hire said, but children may be.
